OFFICER MURDERED.

Constable Toaz, man Who Ran Down Silas Compton, Slain.

STATE MAKES STRONG CASE.

Chief Mulligan of Athens, Sends Telegram Stating That Constable Toaz Was Murdered Wednesday Night—No Particulars Learned.

A telegram was received by Constable McGovern Thursday from Chief of Police Mulligan of Athens who is a witness in the trial of Silas Comptom at Charlotte, Mich., stating that Constable Toaz had been murdered Wednesday night. No other particulars were given.

Toaz was the constable who has been on Compton's trail since the murder of William Lampman in Grand Ledge, 14 years ago. He made several trips to Athens and was the officer who took Compton back to Michigan after his arrest at Lix.

The dispatch also says that the prosecution's evidence was all in and that District Attorney Peters had made out a strong case against Compton.

TOWANDIAN A HERO.

John C. Griffin Performs Great Work in a Railroad Wreck.

The Pittsburg Sun, in a recent issue has the following to say of John C. Griffin, a son of the late John Griffin of Towanda:

John C. Griffin, a medical student at Georgetown university, whose home is at Towanda, Pa., showed himself a hero at the scene of the wreck of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad passenger train at South Twenty-first street, Pittsburg, when himself cut head, he turned to and worked over other injured passengers until he nearly collapsed.

Mr. Griffin was riding in the rear coach. When the collission occurred he was thrown under the seats across the aisle and painfully injured.

When he regained his feet he saw two men near him who were bleeding badly from severed arteries. They received his first attention." He improvised bandages from handkerchiefs and whatever he could reach, and managed to check the flow of blood.

These two attended to, Mr. Griffin, unmindful of his own condition, started to administer first aid to other of the injured about him, and by the time the ambulances arrived with help from the hospitals he was about ready to collapse. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his own injuries were given attention for the first time.

The prompt action of Mr. Griffin in assisting the two men with severed arteries, it was said, saved them from death.

Mr. Griffin was only going to Braddock at the time the accident occurred. He has been visiting in Pittsburg and vicinity since his vacation season began.

MET AT DUSHORE.

George Clymer Chapter, D. A. R., Entertained at Fred Newell's.

On Friday last 24 members of the George Clymer Chapter, D. A. R., met with Mrs. Fred Newell. It was a beautiful day on which we were welcomed to the hospitable home, which was tastefully decorated with American flags. In due course the program for the day was taken up. The subject, "Jamestown," Responses were in line with that topic. Papers were read by Mrs. I. P. Spaulding—"Early Settlement of Jamestown;" Mrs. William Little, "Captain John Smith;" Mrs. J. W. Codding, "Pocahontas;" Mrs. R. A. Mercur, "Jamestown of Today;" Mrs. C. L. Tracy, "Early History of Dushore." Later a bountiful dinner was served by Mrs. Newell. The flag design was continued in the dining room. One striking feature was the centerpiece—a cannon decorated with the stars and stripes.

Following the dinner a social afternoon was spent, and all too soon the time arrived for us to leave our kindly hostess, and the picturesque town, for our return home. E. M. L., corresponding secretary.

His Daughter Injured.

J. Otis Johnson of Towanda, an employee of the Sayre shops, Monday morning received a telegram at Sayre stating that his daughter, Mary Johnson, had been seriously injured at Oak Tree, N. J. She was knocked down and run over by a heavy load of stone.

Found For Plaintiff.

E. L. Smith, E. J. Ayres and Charles Scott, the arbitrators appointed to hear the case of A. E. Kilmer and W. L. Williams vs. the Hawes-Laana company, on Monday returned a finding in favor of the plaintiffs for the sum of $685.08.

HOME COMING WEEK

Why Not One for Bradford Countians In 1908?

ALL MEET IN TOWANDA.

Towanda Business Men's Association and the Historical Society Could Make a Success of the Meeting With But Little Trouble.

Towanda may have an "Old Home Celebration" for Bradford countians in 1908. Since the ieda of "old home week" originated in New Hampshire several years ago, it has been quite generally adopted throughout the United States and Canada, and at the "Old Peoples' Meeting" in Towanda under the auspices of the Historical society a week ago Saturday, it was talked of by many in attendance at the meeting. It has been suggested that Bradford county have a grand homecoming of absent sons and daughters, and next Summer would be a very appropriate time for the inaugural of the scheme.

Ohio has planned a homecoming at Columbus in September. The press agent now engaged in booming this joyous event is no novice in his vocation, and the following choice slogan which he voices would certainly sound good to Bradford countians in lands and fields afar, were it to come from Towanda, the capital of their old home county:

"Ye Pilgrims, come back! Visit once more the old homestead and sit on that cool and cozy porch as of yore. Drink at the old well and swing on the gate again. Drive the cows down the lane to pasture and climb, if you can, the old red apple tree, as you oft have done before. Linger awhile at the 'Old Swimmin' Hole' and stand where the marble used to roll."

Again he strikes another cord:

"Since the day you bade adieu water has gone under the bridge; the pictures on the wall have faded some; the old clock on the mantel has ticked a thousand million times; but, if you will come again, someone will meet you who said 'Goodby' the day you went away."

Bradford county people are located in every state in the union, and it has been many years since some of them visited the scenes of their childhood. The "Old Peoples'" meeting awakened in the hearts of many a longing for the return of the absent ones, if only for a day or a week, and Towanda, the most centrally located town is considered the best gathering place for the Pilgrims, from which place they can travel off into the old home townships, and there linger with the memories of the happy past.

The Bradford County Historical society and the Business Men's association of Towanda could take up the matter and make a success of the "old homecoming celebration." It would require much work, and not so much either. A program of entertainment would make the meeting more enjoyable, and the affair could be worked up into a celebration which would be well worth the trouble of coming miles to attend, in addition to the joys of a home coming.

Towanda has the hotels to accommodate an enormous crowd, and it is the most suitable place in the county to hold the celebration. Why cannot the Historical society and the Business Men's association get together, issue invitations to every absent son and daughter to come back for a week's visit in the old county in September, 1908?

New Albany Rebeckah Officers.

The Azalea Rebeckah Lodge which was installed at New Albany last January is progressing finely, great interest being manifested and several new members having been added. The officers were installed June 25, by D. D. G. M., Judah Lewis, of Sayre: N. G., Susie B. Decker; V. G., Loanna Marcy; secretary, Mabel Davis; treasurer, Elizabeth Allen. N. G's. appointments: R. S., Olive Harshberger; L. S., Jennie Allen; W., Estella Chapman; C., Emma Corbin; R. A. S., Hannah Messersmith; L. A. S., Jennie Ackley; chaplain, Anna English; O. G. Anna Wilcox; I. G., Aurelia Covey; drill master, James Wilcox. V. G. S's. appointments: R. S., Linda Caster; L. S., Mary Sterigere; organist, Mabel Davis. After the regular meeting of the lodge and the installation of officers on Tuesday evening about 50 members partook of an elegant banquet served in the I. O. O. F. dining hall.

Loyal Temperance Convention.

The Loyal Temperance Legion of Nichols, N. Y., sends seven graduates to their convention at Elmira this week. Much credit is due the general secretary, Mrs. J. G. Vought, for the success of the legion. Mrs. Vought has recently moved to Elmira and all sincerely regret her departure: The legion is to be congratulated in securing Mrs. Cora Waterman to take her place.

TRAGIC OCCURRENCES DURING TRIAL OF SILAS COMPTON.

AFTER THE YEGGMEN.

Postoffice Department Sets Machinery in Motion to Stop Robberies.

All the machinery in the Postoffice department has been set in motion for the purpose of punishing "yeggmen," who are preying with impunity upon the small postoffices of the country.

That the number of postoffice robberies is increasing, at a rate of more than 10 per cent., is significant, in view of the fact that the whole number of postoffices is being rapidly decreased because of the increase of rural delivery routes. In the opinion of Chief Inspector W. J. Vickery, it is the work of so-called "yeggmen" who have superceded the oldtime safe crackers, who are few and skillful. the "yeggs" are plentiful, and carry with them nothing but a bottle of nitro-glycerine, or "soup," a fuse and cap. The explosive is allowed to filter into the joints of the safe, and the rest is easy.

It is predicted, conservatively, that the department will be compelled to check this crime wave, which shows no signs of abating, by heroic measures. One is the elimination of the postal "fence," which buys stamps at a low price from postoffice thieves, and sells them to business men at a 10 per cent. discount, even though that fact indicates stolen goods.

A more severe penalty than five years' imprisonment, now the maximum penalty for postoffice robbery, will be asked, and 15 years for this offense is not thought to be excessive.

CARRIAGE OVERTURNED.

Miss Margaret Cowell of Athens, Injured at Upper Towanda Station.

Miss Margaret Cowell, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Cowell of Athens, was painfully, but not seriously injured in an accident at the upper Lehigh station in Towanda Monday evening. Miss Cowell and her young brother, Edgar, had spent the day in Towanda, guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Pratt In the evening Sterling Pratt drove them to the upper station in time for the 7:40 train, and on arriving at the station he stepped from the carriage to inquire about the train, Miss Cowell remaining in the carriage.

Just as he alighted from the carriage the horse took fright and made a lunge, but young Pratt who kept hold of the reins, pluckily retained his hold, and was dragged some distance. A man who saw the boy's predicament rushed to his assistance but in spite of their united efforts, the horse was not brought under control until the carrige had been overturned.

Miss Cowell was thrown out striking upon her shoulder and face. Fortunately her injuries were not of a serious nature, her shoulder being sprained and her face lacerated but she was able to continue her way home in charge of Dr. Wright of Sayre, who chanced to be on the train for which she was waiting.

CIRCULAR ABOUT SCHOOLS.

Schaeffer Gives Instructions Regarding Raise in Salaries.

Says a Harrisburg special: Because the department is overwhelmed with requests for information as to the effect of the new law increasing the minimum pay of public school teachers from $35 to $40, Superintendent of Public Instruction Schaeffer has prepared a circular, which is to be sent into all the school districts, outlining the operation of the new law.

The important requirement for the districts to comply with is to file with the department before Oct. 1 a report showing that they have accepted the provisions of the Snyder act and are paying salaries up to the legal minimum, thereby being entitled to the increased appropriation from the state treasury.

Spanish War Veterans' Smoker.

Twenty veterans of the Spanish war, representing 11 companies and nine regiments, met at the Park Hotel at Sayre, Wednesday evening and held a thoroughly enjoyable smoker. The purpose of the affair which was very informal was to bring the men into closer touch. Several signified their intention of joining the Charles Moore Camp, U. S. W. V. of Towanda, and much enthusiasm was manifested. The headquarters of the Camp may be moved to Sayre as there are at least 50 men in the valley who are eligible for membership.

Vestryman and Treasurer Elected.

At a special meeting of the vestry of Christ Church on Monday, Benj. Kuykendall, Jr., was elected a vestryman, and W. M. Spalding was chosen treasurer.

It Is Believed That Constable Toaz Killed Himself.

TRIAL JUDGE STRICKEN DOWN.

Death, Probably From His Own Hand, Removes One Important Figure and Paralysis Takes Down the Judge Presiding at the Trial.

Tragic occurrences one after another is making sensational the trial of Silas Compton, late of Lix, Bradford county, charged with the murder of William Lampman at Grand Ledge, Michigan, 15 years ago. Compton is now before a judge and jury at Charlotte, being tried for the crime for which one man has already served 15 years of a life sentence. Death probably from his own hand, has removed Canstable Toaz, the man who worked up the case against Compton, and paralysis has taken down from the bench Judge Smith, who was presiding over the trial. Judge Smith was stricken on Thursday night, and court was adjourned until Monday on account of his illness.

Did Constable Toaz Shoot Himself?

The killing of Constable Toaz in his home at Grand Ledge, Mich., is shrouded in mystery, although the authorities believe that he died by his own hand. He was one of the best known detectives in the state of Michigan, having figured in many important cases. Toaz met death in his own home about 2 o'clock Thursday morning, and when found he held a revolver in his right hand. The bullet had entered his right temple. It was extracted and was found to be the same calibre as Toaz's revolver, which had one chamber discharged.

Mrs. Toaz's Story.

Mrs. Toaz says that her husband heard a noise and went down stairs to investigate. He called back that there was some one in the house, and told her to remain at the head of the stairs, then he went to the dining room and Mrs. Toaz heard a crash and one shot was fired. She ran out and called to a neighbor for help and they found the dining room table had been overturned and Toaz was lying just inside the back door in a poor of blood. All the doors and windows were locked on the inside and there was no evidence that a marauder had entered the house. The shot that ended Toaz's life was fired so close that the hair on his temple was singed.

Officials Say Suicide.

Prosecutor Peters of Charlotte, was at once summoned and a coroner's jury was empaneled. It was of the opinion of Sheriff Sloan, Prosecutor Peters and the coroner that Toaz had shot himself. Mrs. Toaz insists that he was murdered. She and Miss Minnie Tillner, a clerk who boards in the Toaz home, say they heard Toaz exclaim, "What are you doing here?" Then there were sounds of a struggle and the table was upset with a crash.

Toaz had returned early in the evening from Charlotte, where he had been attending the Compton murder trial, he having been instrumental in bringing Silas Compton back from Pennsylvania for trial for the murder of Miser Lampman, 15 years ago, and he was also the officer who worked up the case in 1892 that sent John Butcher to Jackson for life for the same crime.

Toaz made many enemies through his pursuit of criminals, but as the investigation continues the feeling grows stronger that he ended his own life. Practically the only evidence pointing to a murder is the scuffle heard by Mrs. Toaz.

Toaz Worried Much.

Toaz was much worreid over the Compton trial. It is related that during the trial while the attorneys for the defense were questioning the witnesses it was brought out that Toaz had offered to pay Chief Mulligan of Athens $100 to watch Compton. This was without authority from Eaton county officials and the attorney used the word "graft" several times. Toaz left the court room.

The detective had been severely criticised privately for bringing the expense of the Compton trial upon the county when there was no public sentiment to warrant digging up a murder case of 15 years standing. This criticism is also believed to have worried Toaz.

Hounding Compton.

Toaz came to Pennsylvania a number of years ago and enlisted the a'd of a brother officer to keep track of Compton until he should want him, and it is said that Compton never received or mailed a letter that Toaz did not know about it.

ANOTHER MYERS SUSPECT.

Addison Officials Believe They Have Long Wanted Murderer.

Four years ago at the village of Trowbridge, Tioga county, Pa., the murder of Mrs. George Payne was committed. Edward Troinkle, alias Myers, who was employed as a farm hand on the farm was strongly suspected of the murder, as he disappeared when Payne had gone to Elmira for the day and when he returneed it was to find his wife murdered and Myers gone, the house having been rifled of money and jewelry.

Mr. Payne offered a large reward for the capture of Myers and this reward was added to by the police department of Elmira. Although the police were many times on the eve of capturing Myers, at one time having him penned up in a swamp near Hancock, N. Y., he managed to escape. Many rumors from time to time were rife that Myers had been seen in this neighborhood or that, but they all proved groundless, for when the suspects were arrested, they could never be identified as the missing murderer. The opinion has for some time prevailed that Myers, severely wounded by the officers, had died in some impenetrable part of the swamp at Hancock.

Interest is again revived in the matter by the arrest at Addison Saturday, of a man who gives the name of Charles Willets. He was arrested for intoxication. It is claimed that a resident of Freeman has identified the man as the missing Myers, and that several residents of Addison, adhere to the same belief. The man is now in jail there and relatives of Mrs. Payne, with the police of Elmira, have been notified to come on if possible to identify the man as Myers. The prisoner is also believed to be the party who robbed several Tioga county stores recently.

Willets may be able to disprove the claim, in which case it will be but another of the many false arrests of the much-sought murderer. However, much excitement prevails at present at Addison, Caton, and Trowbridge, in the neighborhood of where the murder was committed.

GETTING AROUND THE LAW.

Tunkhannock Man Goes Into Luzerne County to Collect Debt.

William P. Weiss of Tunkhannock, through his attorney, James R. Scouton, has commenced a suit in assumpsit against Billings & company of New York, to recover $1,000. The plaintiff claims that the above sum is due him as salary in being employed by the defendant company as traveling agent to sell the company's paint products. The suit was brought in Luzerne county for the reason that the plaintiff discovered that vice-president Bacon, of the company, was in Wilkes-Barre and consequently was easily served with notice of the action. If the action would have been brought in Wycoming county it would have been difficult in serving notice on Mr. Bacon as he rarely visits that county.

Present for Alba Borough.

The Troy Gazette-Register says: "The citizens of Alba were treated to a surprise at the church services last Sunday, when it was announced that a former citizen of the place was to present to the community the property known as the Palmer place, just North of the cemetery, the same to be used as an annex to the old cemetery. A meeting was called for Tuesday evening to hear the particulars. In response to the call a large number of citizens gathered at the Disciple church at 8 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. M. S. Blair was elected chairman, and A. D. Wilson, secretary. Morrell Wilson of Providence, R. I., a son of 'Squire Volney Wilson, in a very fitting speech made the presentation. Mr. Wilson said his gift was without any 'strings' and the only thing he asked of Alba citizens was that each lot taken in the annex be paid for and the money received used in keeping both the old and new cemeteries in good condition."

Compton Case Ended.

Evidence in the case of Silas Compton, who has been on trial at Charlotte, Mich., Charged with the murder of William Lampman 15 years ago, has all been submitted and a verdict is expected today. Chief Mulligan and Justice Johnson of Athens, witnesses in the case have returned home. They are of the opinion that Compton will be acquitted.

DRANK DEADLY POISON

Passenger Quaffed to His Death From Proffered Flask.

TRAGEDY ON BLACK DIAMOND.

Gave Fellow Passenger Drink From Whiskey Bottle Filled With Deadly Poison, Just to See How It Would Work Toward Suicide.

"Won't you have a little drink?" asked L. L. King, who was a passenger on the Black Diamond express, No. 9, Wednesday afternoon and after J. Marat had smilingly nodded assent King proffered a bottle containing syanide of potassium, a violent poison and drinking from the bottle caused Marat's death.

King was en route to Detroit, Mich., and Marat was going to Waterloo. Both men were passengers on the Lehigh's flyer and when the train was near Burdette King pulled a bottle from his pocket and asked Marat if he wished a little drink. Marat was accompanied by his brother but only he took a drink from the bottle. The flask was of the kind in which whiskey is usually carried and Marat supposed that the liquid he was about to drink was distilled rye. So he took a large drink from the bottle and a few minutes afterward was taken violently ill. When the train reached Geneva King was placed under arrest and Marat was taken from the train. Soon afterwards the man who drank the poison died.

It is believed that King is demented and the only explanation he gives for his fiendish act is to say that he purchased the poison with intent to commit suicide and just wanted to see how it worked on another person.

New Lehigh Time-Table.

A new Lehigh time schedule will become effective tomorrow on the Lehigh Valley. The new schedule provides for no important changes in main line trains with the exception that 157 will be run half an hour later. There is one important change to be made in trains on the Montrose branch. In the past the passenger train has run from Tunkhannock to Montrose and then back, making the lay over at Tunkhannock. Beginning Sunday the train will run from Montrose to Tunkhannock and back, making the lay over at Montrose.

Off For the Phillippines.

William Shiner of Powell, being unable to resist the desire to cross the blue Pacific, to that far famed dreamland, the Philippines enlisted Friday in the U. S. regulars at the Towanda recruiting station which is in charge of Sergeant Robert L. Cox. Shiner has gone to Ft. Slocum, N. Y., from which place he will be assigned to a regiment designated for service in the Philippine islands.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT.

Towanda Has to Bow to the Inevitable Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Towanda given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

Mrs. Charlotte M. Carl, of 504 Bridge St., Towanda, Pa., says: "I used several boxes Doan's Kidney Pills in the Winter of 1896, getting them at Dr. H. C. Porter & Son's drug store on Main street. I was so well pleased with the results obtained that I freely gave for publication an endorsement of the remedy. It is now over eight years since I gave my original statement and I have this to say about Doan's Kidney Pills. I have no reason to alter my opinion as to their value, for I have given them a more thorough test, having used them off and on for the past eight years when attacks of backache and a disordered condition of the kidney secretions occurred, and in all my experience they have never failed to bring relief and correct the difficulties. I have recommended them to a host of my friends and acquaintances and all who have used them expressed themselves as having received satisfactory results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Representative Sheatz of Philadelphia, chairman of the House Appropriation committee Wednesday settled his accoounts of the committee's expenses, and turned back to the treasury $4,806.92. This is the first time in years there has been an unexpended balance.

The other day while the children of a family named Dovetsky, at Pocono Lake, were playing near the house, they came upon a young bear cub not much bigger than a ground hog, says The Milford Dispatch. The cub followed the children to the house, where Mrs. Dovetsky caught it and placed it in a box. The mother of the youngster was not seen. It is presumed that this baby bear wandered away from its mamma and met the fate that always follows disobedience of parents.

It is possible that the new Lackawanna station in Scranton will cost more than was first supposed. The estimated price was $550,000, but the bids of the contractors are all away above that figure. It is now thought the company will have to pay at least $700,000.

With an order just received for 25,000 pair of shoes for the United States army and an order for the same number for the army of a foreign government the entire output of the York Shoe Manufacturing company for the year has been engaged.

Hon. W. W. Crittenden of Oswayo, has been given a verdict in the United States court at Williamsport of $11,413 against Theodore and William Cobb of Spring Mills. The litigation grew out of a deal concerning the New York and Pennsylvania railroad.

A large flock of wild turkeys has been seen by woodchoppers in the vicinity of York Furnace, on Otter Creek. This is considered remarkable, as no wild turkeys had been seen in York county since 1837. They became extinct about the time the deer were driven out.

While working on the new depot of the Wilkes-Barre and Hazleton railroad in Wilkes-Barre, Edward Ramsey, a structural ironworker of Philadelphia, was struck on the head by a falling girder and killed.

The Richmond township, Tioga county, school directors re-engaged but one of last year's teachers. They object to the new salary law and took this means of showing their disapproval.

A rattlesnake nine feet and three inches long was recently killed in Pike by an old hunter. It had 35 rattles.

Sixty-seven perch, 43 roach, 34 sunfish, and a solitary catfish, 145 in all, was the record-breaking catch of 11 years old Hilda Moritz, of Cowlyn, and Mr. and Mrs. William Dryer of Darby, Friday. The fish were caught in Darby Creek, near Essington.

The jury which tried George Formhals for the murder of Charles Warner, in the Blair county court, was most accommodating. It returned its verdict of acquittal in time for him to attend the wedding of his cousin, Miss Mary Caldwell of Gaysport, to which ceremony he had been invited while awaiting trial in jail.

A peculiar state of affairs was unearthed at Trescow, when it was discovered that a brother, Frank Hortis, so loved his sister, Mrs. Rosie Cortis, that to prevent her going to Italy he nailed up the gates of her house. Being old, she was unable to climb the fence. She remains for the present, but is still determined to return to Italy.

Ralph Seasoltz, a graduate of the Pottstown High school, this year, has a good record. During eight terms of school he had not missed a day.

Returning home late at night, Stephen D. Gardiner of Allentown, accidentally opened the gas jet in his room, after he had turned it off, and was asphyxiated.

Dr. Sylvester C. Baker of Altoona, Blair county's largest real estate owner, died suddenly Tuesday night, aged 82 years. His real estate holdings covered many miles of farm and mountain property near Altoona.

LIGHTNING'S PRANKS.

Hip Pocket Torn From Man's Trousers, But He Survives.

Lightning plays some queer pranks, and one of the oddest comes to notice from Cadis, Bradford county. During a storm last Monday a bolt struck a barn, rendered two men unconscious, one having a large hole torn in his shirt and the hip pocket torn from his trousers, yet he escaped serious injury. A horse standing near was instantly killed. A correspondent, writing from Cadis, gives the following account of the occurrence:

"Hugh Hastings had driven his team of horses from the field into the basement of the barn. His brother, Matthew Hastings, also went into the basement to avoid the storm. The door was left open by sliding it back.

"Mr. Hastings was sitting sideways with one shoulder against the door, when a bolt of lightning struck the peak on the South end of the barn. The lightning ran down the sides until it struck the sills, from which it ran down the posts of the basement to the ground. Mr. Hastings was knocked to the floor in an unconscious conditon. His brother was knocked down and as soon as he could arise he ran out of the barn.

"Mrs. William E. Allen of Owego, who was visiting at Cadis with Mrs. Rogers went to the barn and with water restored Mr. Hastings to consciousness. He was taken to the house. The lightning had struck him on the shoulder, tearing a hole as large as an ordinary fist from his outer and under shirts, then it passed down to the hip, where it tore the pocket from his overalls. A streak was burned on his body from the shoulder to the hip. The burn was similar to a sunburn.

"One of the horses was instantly killed. Mr. Hastings sat within a foot of it. The horse was owned by Mr. Dean. The posts and sills of the barn were splintered. The barn did not take fire."

STATE POLITICS.

Conventions Will Be Held in 1908 to Elect Delegates.

A Harrisburg, Pa., special says: At the State department, it is said, there is nothing in the talk that various political parties will not have to hold State conventions next year.

While there will be no state officers to elect, unless the unforseen should happen, the new uniform primary law requires that delegates at large to national conventions shall be chosen at State conventions. Each party will have four such delegates to elect.

The language of the law is: "Delegates to State and National conventions, who shall be elected by the State conventions, shall be elected at the Spring primary."

The exception is taken to require that State conventions must be held, even though there be nothinng for them to do except to elect four delegates-at-large to National conventions.

AMPUTATED HIS OWN LEG.

Wilkes-Barre Miner Displays Grea Nerve During Accident.

The Wilkes-Barre News says: "William Lameraux, a young miner employed in No. 14 shaft, displayed great nerve Friday when he amputated his own leg with a pocket knife. He was caught in a fall of rock, and the leg was badly shattered, hanging to the hip by merely a few strands of flesh. Lameraux pulled himself from the wreckage, cooly took out his pocket knife and amputated the leg. Fellow-workers arrived to his rescue a few moments later and found him binding the wound with a handkerchief, which he was tightening with a stick. He was removed to the hospital where the wound was antiseptically treated."

MRS. PORTER PASSES AWAY.

Death Ends Suffering of Well Known Towanda Lady.

Mrs. Lizzie L. Porter, widow of the late Clark B. Porter of Towanda, died Thursday afternoon in the Mercy hospital, Hoboken, N. J., after a long illness with heart trouble.

Mrs. Porter had been in poor health for a long time, and on Jan. 5, 1907, in company with Mr. Porter and a party of friends, sailed for Europe in the hopes of finding health. Mr. Porter was also in poor health, and after a long illness gradually growing weaker day by day, passed away April 15 at Casamicciola, near Naples in Italy. His death was a severe blow to Mrs. Porter, and after consulting eminent specialists to no avail, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Welles, she sailed for home. On arriving at New York, two weeks ago, she was met by Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Kuykendall, Jr., and went to the Mercy hospital, Hoboken, for treatment. For a time she seemed to gain strength, but during the past few days had gradually failed, and death came as a relief to her sufferings Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Porter was the daughter of the late Mathias H. and Annie Overton Laning of Wysox township. She was in her sixty-second year, having been born in November, 1845. During the long years of her life in Towanda, with her husband she took an active interest in social and religious affairs, being a devoted and life long communicant of Christ Church. The news of her death has cast a gloom over a large circle of friends who cherished her friendship, and held her in the highest esteem.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Benjamin Kuykendall, Jr., of Towanda, and Mrs. Frederick Culbertson of Lewistown. Robert H. Laning of Towanda, is a brother of the deceased.

The funeral of the late Mrs. C. B. Porter was held at the Porter home, corner Second and Poplar streets, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and was very largely attended. Rev. E. A. Gernant conducted the services, and interment was made in the family lot in Oak Hill cemetery.

Mrs. David Dimock.

The funeral of the late Mrs. David Dimock was held from her late home at Liberty Corners, Friday at 2 p. m. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Loller of Monroeton, who spoke in eloquent manner to the many relatives and friends that gathered to pay their last tribute of love and respect to this honorable lady. She was laid to rest in the family plot at Liberty Corners by the side of her husband who passed away 50 years ago. Her three sons and three grandsons, acting as pall bearers: George Dimock and Wallace Dimock of Liberty Corners, Lafayette Dimock of Williamsport, Charley Dimock of Towanda, Clarence Mason of Sayre, and Charles Potter of Towanda. The deceased was 91 years old and is survived by seven children: George Dimock, and Lucinda Dimock, who live at the family home, Lafayette Dimock of Williamsport, Mrs. Mary Heverly of Overton, Mrs. Ella Mason of Sayre, Mrs. N. W. King of Towanda, and Wallace Dimock of Liberty Corners, all of them being present at the bedside when the Angel of Death came and called their dear mother to the Heaven of Rest. There are 12 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren that also survive. Although this wonderful old lady has been blind for 60 years she has assisted wonderfully in the management of the home. She was highly respected by all who knew her, and will be greatly missed by her many relatives and friends.

Seth P. Gustin.

Seth P. Gustin, an old and prominent resident of Burlington township, and a veteran of the Civil war, died Sunday morning at 7 o'clock, at his home at Luthers Mills. He was past 73 years of age and practically his entire life was spent in Burlington township. Deceased is survived by three sons, Grow, Lloyd and Guy Gustin of Burlington township, and one daughter, Mrs. Harriet Spencer. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the Luthers Mills church. Interment was made in Gustin cemetery. The G. A. R. conducted services at the grave.

Mrs. Lucy Perrin Burgess.

Mrs. Lucy Perrin Burgess died at the home of her daughter, Mrs George E. Rogers, at Sayre at one o'clock Tuesday morning from the infirmities incident upon old age. She was 81 years of age and had been confined to her bed almost continually since last November. She had lived with her daughter for the last year. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Rogers, and three sons. The remains have been taken to Bedford, Mich., for interment.

Mrs. Harriet M. Baldwin.

Mrs. Harriet M. Baldwin, aged 72, died at her home in Athens Monday night after a year's illness. She was a native of Ithaca, having been a resident of that city until four years ago when she came to Athens with her husband and family to reside. She is survived by her husband, Asa Baldwin, and one son, Frank L. Baldwin of Athens.

Byron G. Stark.

The New York Journal of Commerce and Bulletin, gives the following account of the death of Byron G. Stark, which ocurred in New York city on Sunday, June 23:

Byron G. Stark, manager of the Western department of the Caledonian Insurance company, died at his apartments in the Hotel Lucerne, Seventy-ninth street and Amsterdam avenue, New York city, on Sunday evening, the 23rd. Mr. Stark was born in Clinton county, Mich., on Feb. 4, 1846. After completing his education at Rochester, N. Y., he took up fire insurance as his life work, but for a time was comptroller of the city of Saginaw, Mich., and aferwards a police judge. For years he was special agent of the Niagara Fire Insurance company in the state of Michigan, and subsequently was associated with I. S. Blackwelder of Chicago, as assistant manager of the Western department of the Niagara and Caledonian Insurance companies. About 14 years ago he moved to New York to become the Western manager of the Caledonian, a position which he ably filled up to the time of his death. Mr. Stark was widely known and universally respected and a host of friends (throughout the state of Michigan particularly) will mourn his death. He leaves a widow and one daughter.

Mrs. Stark was before her marriage Miss Hannah Naglee of Greenwood. She has many friends in Towanda, Greenwood and Monroeton who will deeply sympathize with her in her bereavement.

Stephan Heusler.

Stephan Heusler, a bright young man, aged 21 years, an electrician by trade, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. Otto Riepper, in Wyalusing, Tuesday morning after an illness of just one week. The cause of his death was grip with muscular rheumatism and congestion of the lungs. The young man came to Wyalusing from Brooklyn, N. Y., about two weeks ago for a short vacation at the home of his sister, but becoming interested in the embroidery plant work, of which Mr. Reiper is the owner, he had been assisting him there when he was taken sick. The family physician was called, but he was not considered dangerously ill till the final summons came. He is survived by his father, living at Brooklyn, a sister living at Pittsburg, and his sister at Wyalusing. The funeral services will be held at the home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock; interment will be made in the village cemetery.

Passed Away Last Midnight.

Michael Roach, aged about 70 years, and a resident of Towanda for many years, passed away last midnight at years, passed away Tuesday nigt at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jennie Roach Wood, on Bridge street. Mr. Roach suffered a stroke several weeks ago and had been in poor health since. Tuesday his health failed rapidly, and the end came peacefully at midnight.

Mrs. Lucy Williams.

NO HOUSE FOR BOOKER T.

Barred From Mamaroneck, Washington Goes to Oyster Bay.

Mamaroneck, N. Y., July 2.—Maybe next year Booker T. Washington will be able to lease a house for the summer in the best section of Mamaroneck instead of at Oyster Bay, but this year, though the summer was somewhat backward and there are yet many fine colonial houses at Mamaroneck to rent, no one was apparently willing to lease to Mr. Washington his house for the summer, so Mr. Washington sought a summer house at Oyster Bay, and just the kind of house he wanted was quickly found for him there.

One of the persons who politely refused to lease a Mamaroneck house to Mr. Washington was W. E. G. Gaillard, president of one of the largest realty companies of New York city. Mr. Gaillard is an ardent admirer of the famous negro teacher, but he says: "I have many valuable property interests in Mamaroneck to protect, and in this matter Mr. Washington surely knows I had to act just as a trustee of an estate would. He evidently saw it in that light, too, for his representative and I parted in a most friendly spirit."

OFFICERS OF NEW GRANGE BANK

Election Resulted in E. E. VanDyne Being Chosen President.

Nine of the 11 directors of the Bradford County Grange National bank of Troy, met on Monday at the office of David J. Fanning, Esq., in Troy, and elected the following officers:

President, E. Everett VanDyne.

First vice-president, George B. Lewis of LeRoy.

Second vice-president, George C. Cornell of Troy.

Cashier, Stephen F. Robinson of Athens.

Committees were appointed on location, etc., to report within two weeks.

It was the sense of the meeting that the capital stock of the new bank should be increased from $50,000 to $75,000, and a meeting of stockholders to that end will be soon called.

The selection of assistant cashier was left for a subsequent meeting of the directors when the cashier shall be present.

While Mr. Robinson had been talked of some time for cashier, it was not known until after the directors met that he would accept the place. While yet sheriff of the county, he was elected cashier of the Athens National bank, a position he still holds. He was doubtless influenced in his decision to come to Troy by the residence there of his parents and three of his sisters. There is very general satisfaction among the stockholders over the choice of officers. Mr. VanDyne, the president, is the senior member of the firm of E. VanDyne's Sons, tanners, of Troy borough; Mr. Lewis, the first vice-president, is a well known business man of LeRoy, and Mr. Cornell, the second vice-president, is one of the owners of the Troy Creamery with numerous branches and skimming stations.—Troy Gazette-Register.

MANLEY REUNION.

Held at East Canton on June 18—Four Generations Present.

A pleasant picnic reunion was held at the home of Joel T. Manley, in East Canton, on June 18, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Manley. The Canton Sentinel gives the following account of the event:

"Four generations were present to greet Mr. Manley, his wife and four granddaughters, who are in the East visiting the old home and their relatives in Bradford county. They left their home near St. Josephs, Mo., two weeks ago, traveling via Niagara Falls and Buffalo. They leave on Thursday for home going via New York city, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C., and visiting the Jamestown exposition before resuming their journey Westward.

"Mrs. Achsahe Dartt, sister of Mr. Manley, was the oldest relative present and Miss Lillian Lawrence of Hartley Hall, was the youngest relative present. Mrs. Matida Park of Monroeton, and Mrs. Jane Stalford of Wyalusing, sisters of Mr. Manley, could not be present because of ill health. Of nephews and nieces the following were present and warmed the "cockles of his heart," viz: Mrs. Charlotte Ingham, Hiram Lindley, Mrs. Burton Montgomery, Mrs. A. D. Wilson, William T. Lawrence, Mrs. Darwin Lawrence, Mrs. W. S. Lewis, Wesley Stevens, and Mrs. Charles D. Derrah.

"Others present were: Arthur Packard and family, P. M. Wright and family, Greely Wright and wife, Mrs. Sarah Foster VanDyke, James Barnes and wife, Mrs. E. G. VanDyke, Mrs. Hannah Lindley, Mrs. Walter Reynoids, A. D. Wilson, Mrs. Arthur Manley, Mrs. Calvin Brown, M. R. Foster and wife, Mrs. Hiram Lindley, Mrs. Lottie Loomis and daughter, Burton Montgomery, Mrs. Roselle Montgomery and children, Earl Lindley and family, Mrs. Joel Manley and children, Miss Mildred Manley, Benson Wright and wife, Mrs. W. T. Lawrence and daughter, Benjamin Derrah, John Dartt Brown, Will Dean Brown, William Foster and wife, Rev. Wenrick and wife, Mrs. Gates, Mrs. Samuel Jewell and daughter, Mrs. E. L. Manley, Mrs. Chapin, Mrs. Lee Riggs and daughter.

"That the luncheon was a success—an abundant success—was apparent from the manner in which everyone applied themself to dispose of the good things set before them. Even 'Uncle Sylvester' and his good wife, testified that the cake surpassed Missouri cake.

"After luncheon the guests scattered about the house and lawn and called up many a loving incident of the past. A rejuvenating feature of the occasion was the jolly capering of the children upon the lawn. The recitations of the afternoon were begun by Mrs. Darwin Lawrence, who convulsed the guests by her rendition of 'Mary Had a Little Lamb.' Mrs. Sylvester Manley recited 'How Aunt Parsons Helped the Board,' with such ease and attraction that everyone forgot she was 70 years old and rewarded her with a hand clapping we hope she can hear yet many a day when she is far away from us in Missouri.

"Dear 'Uncle Sylvester' started to make an address, but was interrupted past recovery by the cheers of the guests as he was drawn in state in a 'Democrat' by three of his nephews across the lawn. His granddaughters, Blanch and Carrie Lindley, and Helen Lawrence, recited with pleasure for the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Wenrick sang 'Row Your Boat,' after which the guests took leave of their friends and started homeward. It was, indeed, an occasion to be remembered and will be cherished by all who were present."

—Williamsport Sun.

At this season of the year it is wise for men and women to be specially careful about their diet and the diet of their children.

Pennsylvania will be a better state in which to live after she has succeeded in sending a few of her plunderers to the penitentiary.—Altoona Tribune.

Sons and daughters of old Bradford county are scattered broadcast throughout the country. Why not have a glad Homecoming Celebration" and get them all together once more?

New York has a new law which will go into effect July 1, requiring the names of the actual owners of magazines or newspapers to be printed on the outside cover or at the head of the editorial page.

It will be lawful to expose for sale and to sell in any markets, public or private the domesticated rabbit, otherwise known as the Belgian hare, from Oct. 1 to April 15. It must be understood that this is not the wild rabbit, the sale of which the law does not permit.

Those who find it impossible to indulge in a vacation trip during the coming sultry months may be able to manage a home vacation of a quite satisfactory nature by a little judicious arranging of their work. A tarry at home vacation is sometimes a highly enjoyable affair.

Left alone with nine children, while his wife was attending a special meeting of the sewing circle, a Pittsburg man cut his throat and tried to die. His wife was summoned and she sent word back that she would come after the meeting. We bet she didn't even second the motion to adjourn.

In sentencing two persons to 14 years in Sing Sing for kidnapping a child, Judge O'Sullivan said: "It were far better for parents to know their children are dead than to feel that they have fallen into the hands of such criminals as these; certainly, this crime seems more horible than murder."

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Martin sends out the cheering report that, however much of a failure the wheat crop may prove in other localities this year, in our own state it will be exceptionally good. Wheat, like cabbage and a few other crops, thrives best in a cool, moist season, such as we have had this Spring. While corn, tobacco, beans, grass and many other crops were much retarded by the cold season, the wheat only needs a few weeks of warm weather and sunshine to make an excellent crop.

Towanda people certainly have every reason to be proud of the two local banking institutions, as there are no stronger or better manged banks in the country than the Citizens National and the First National. In another column of today's paper there is a news item chronicling the declaring of the usual semi-annual 5 per cent dividend, and the placing of $5,000 profits to the surplus fund of the First National, which speaks volumes for that well known institution.

The worm will turn, says the proverb, and at last the newspaper worm has turned hard. In a recent novel a well known criminal lawyer represent the city editor of a daily metropolitan daily newspaper as remaining in the office until 2 o'clock in the morning, at which time he was "finishing off" an editorial. A few days after the public had been allowed to gain this valuable information of the workings of a newspaper office the aforesaid daily newspaper worm turned. It said it understood the lawyer's next book was to be a realistic novel of how the captain stood on the bridge and oiled the engines. The lawyer's demurer is now awaited with interest.

TRIAL MARRIAGES.

Trial mariages, or legalized prostitution, as some people call them, are pretty costly to parties, who have the means to spend in such matters. A Cleveland dispatch says, close friends of Dan Danna, estimate the cost of his divorces at more than half a million dollars. His first wife, May Harrington, received nearly $200,000 as alimony, and he was forced to support the three children until they are of age. Daisy Gordon received $250,000 and the home in which they lived, this being valued at $50,000. Then Hanna has paid all the expenses of both divorces and in each his wife was represented by lawyers who are known to take only cases that carry liberal fees.

Three days after his second divorce, Mr. Hanna—son of the late Senator Hanna—was married the third time, his new bride herself being a divorcee.

In commenting on the marriage, the New York American, says, Hanna himself is not important enough to menace society. Anglo-Saxton civilization, and all that is best in any civilization, is built around the family. The family, is the unit of society, must be whole and stable, else all things dependent upon it are endangered. The flippancy with which the most sacred relation of life is treated has become a scandal to the present and a menace to the future. Marriage is ended to an accompaniment of vaudeville. These performances are made the more conspicious by the prominence of the participants. This time it is the son of one of the best known politicians of his day. Others even more in the public eye have offended as greatly. The very fact that one is well known puts on him the duty of being an exemplar to society. But now it is often the leaders who are rotten and the masses that have the moral health. A man's most percious memories are of his early home life. Are we to rob the children of this precious boon? When we do we take from them character and all that is best in the world.

Some of the modern divorces and trial marriages are not only an offence against morals, but against good manners.

A FATHER'S RESPONSIBILITY.

Clarence W. Byrne, the New York Christian Scientist who was arrested several days ago at the instigation of Coroner Acritelli of the metropolis, for permitting his six years old daughter Violet to die of bronchial pneumonia on May 4 without proper medical attendance, was found guilty in special sessions Monday of violating that section of the penal code, which makes it a misdemeanor for a parent to fail to provide medical attendance for a minor. On motion of Byrne's counsel, sentence was set for July 12, to enable him to file briefs for a new trial. Byrne may be sentenced to a year in prison, a fine of $500, or both. It seems incredible, but nevertheless a fact as too frequently reported, that parents who profess to have love for their offspring, will permit their children to suffer, agonize and die, without taking advantage of medical skill for relief or cure. People must die, but medical skill will tide over a crisis or keep the machinery of life in motion for years, particularly where there is youth or anything to build on, for many years, or at least palliate and relieve pain. Religious fanatics should not be permitted to prevent innocent children from having the advantage or possibilities offered through medical science.—Scranton Times.

This is the last week for the rural carriers under the old schedule of salaries. Beginning July 1st all carriers whose routes are 24 miles long or longer are to draw a salary of $900 a year against $720 under the old schedule. An increase of $15 a month. There are 76 rural routes in this county. The total increase therefore is about $1,125 a month or $13,500 a year. And who dare say that the faithful rural carriers are not entitled to every cent they get?

The farmer who did not sell his hay last Summer for $8 a ton, but pressed it and held it for a better price, is now selling it to the dealers better than $20 a ton, while his neighbor who sold because he had to have the money is now delivering it, while the dealer cleans up $12 a ton more than he paid for it. But most of the farmers contracted early, and the buyer is reaping the golden hadvest.

A bill of special interest to rural communities was signed by Governor Stuart the other day. It permits small companies to be formed as limited partnership concerns. Heretofore telephone companies had to get a full charter, costing from $50 to $75, but now they can get their papers at but little expense under this new act. The bill is especially for the benefit of small telephone companies which are being built among the farmers.

A Wilkes-Barre statistican is authority for the prediction that the huckleberry crop for this end of the state this season, will amount o 500,000 quarts. This is said to be larger than it has been for some years. The cool weather, while it may not have been altogether agreeable to some people, has nevertheless been admirably adapted to the huckleberry, as cool and moist conditions are most favorable for an abundant yield of this particular variety of fruit.

Governor Vardaman of Mississippi, that vivid and in some ways paradoxical character, is described as having got religion at a recent revival meeting. In the presence of several thousand spectators he walked resolutely to the altar and announced his surrender to the Christian cause.

UNDER AWFUL ACCUSATION.

The Williamsport Sun says: "The three men in the Laporte jail accused of attempting to wreck a Lehigh Valley passenger train near Lopez, in revenge for having been put off a freight train, face a most serious accusation. The obstructions alleged to have been placed on the track by the three defendants fortunately were discovered in time to be removed before the coming of the passenger train that must surely have been ditched, probably entailing the loss of life, certainly resulting in the loss of property. In the category of crime the attempted wrecking of railroad trains is of the classification of attempted murder, hence the evident seriousness of the charge under which the three men in the Sullivan county jail are arraigned. A man who seeks to revenge himself against a corporation by the destruction of property and consequential endangering of human life is a startling menace to society and his action is the very essence of the spirit of anarchy which America, American institutions and the American people will not permit to go unpunished. In no case ought the public mind be prejudiced without warrant against an accused man before trial, and in this instance the interests of the prisoners at Laporte will be safe-guarded by the law, but in their trial, because of the heinousness of the crime of which they are acused, wide public interest will be shown."

THE GIRL GRADUATE.

"Every June," says the West Chester Village Record, "when the sweet girl graduate focuses the spot light as she tells the world the reasons for the Whichness of the What, a lot of soggy-minded people arise and say, 'Yes, that's all right, but she'd be a lot better off, and so would her future husband and children, if she had spent all this time in her mother's kitchen a-learning to make pies.' If a girl is bright enough to master Greek and to work out astronomical problems and to know the dates of the Punic wars and to sing alto in the church choir and sprint almost as fast as a man in knee pants and a shirt cut with a circular saw, despite her long, encumbering skirts, a little thing like stirring flour and water together and sticking it into a hot oven isn't going to get the better of her. Plant a Normal girl down in a kitchen, give her a cook book and set her to making any dish in the index and she'll succeed. Of course, she will make mistakes, but so will the girl who learns it all by rule of thumb while tied to her mother's apron strings."

THE GAZETTE STILL LIVES.

The Wellsboro Gazette continues to camp on the trail of the Wellsboro Water company, giving the public some very interesting reading concerning the excessive water rates charged in Wellsboro, as compared to the rates in other towns and cities. In retaliation the superintendent of the water company has discontinued his subscription to the Gazette, and been instrumental in knocking that office out of ten dollars'-worth of job printing. But the Gazette still lives. —Austin Autograph.

The Democratic State convention met at Harrisburg Thursday and nominated ex-Representative John G. Harman of Columbia county, for State treasurer, the only state office to be filled in Pennsylvania at the November election. State Treasurer Berry presided as chairman of the convention. The platform flays the party that harbored the new capitol thieves and demands speedy prosecution of those directly responsible for the alleged fraud in the furnishing of the capitol. The speech of Chairman Berry was along the same lines. Mr. Harman and John O. Sheatz, the Republican nominee, served together in the legislature and are close personal friends.

Quite a bit of interest is being taken in the new law relative to husband and wife and to enlarge the rights and remedies of married women in case of desertion or non-support by the husband. The act was approved by Governor Stuart on May 23, and makes it possible for wives to bring action either at law or in equity, while heretofore the only recourse was through the ordinary legal procedure in quarter sessions court. It also is possible to get possession of the property of husbands who have deserted their wives. It is said that Massachusetts, Michigan and Pennsylvania are the only states which have such a law on their books.

Farmers will do well to be on their guard against a set of fake inspectors who are going up and down the state levying blackmail on unsuspecting agriculturists. They pretend to be inspectors sent out from the Agricultural department to examine into the sanitary condition of cattle. A fee of 25 cents is charged for every cow or steer examined, or $2.50 for an entire stable. It is hardly necessary to state that these men are impostors, and totally without any authority from the state or federal government for such work.

In a few days a new law forbidding the camera fiend to have his way will go into effect in Germany. It imposes severe penalties on any one that takes a photograph of any person without his consent or a photograph of any property without the owner's consent. Permission to take a picture of an interior must be so used as not to include any family portraits without the consent of the owner.

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE.

The Democratic State convention last week at Harrisburg, attracted little attention either among the Democratic cohorts of their opponents John G. Harman was nominated for State Treasurer, and a state issue platform adopted. Everything had been arranged beforehand and the delegates ratified the program.

John G. Harman, named as the Democratic standard bearer, although little known outside his own town, is an aggressive fighter and has made a fairly good record in the General Assembly, but neither in political experience or broad knowledge of public men and affairs does he compare favorably with his opponent, the Hon. John Oscar Sheatz, of Philadelphia.

The platform adopted by the convention rejects all issues but the honest administration of the office of state treasurer. It points with pride to the administration of Democratic Treasurer Berry and his part in causing disclosure of the new capitol robbery. It points with scorn at the record of Treasurer Berry's immediate predecessor in office and makes the seductive plea that, because the constitution intended the state treasurer and auditor general to be a check upon each other, the republican auditor general can be best checked by a Democratic treasurer.

The selection of George H. Dimeling as State chairman puts the campaign management in the hands of a resourceful, successful business man, who will make the campaign interesting. More than that can hardly be expected. The Republican party has chosen for its leader this year a man whose whole life is a guaranty of an honest administration of every trust committed to his hands, while his public life has been marked by a steadfast and courageous devotion to the interests of the people. His nomination has united all factions and his election by a large majority is assured.

A LIVELY FOURTH.

All appearances indicate that the country is going to see a lively Fourth of July this year. In New York they are making special preparations in in the way of fine firework displays. Last year, it was estimated, $10,000,000 went heavenward in smoke. This year they are going to make it $12,000,000. One paper describes, with much glee, the many new things that will be seen. Among the novelties this year are Roman candles with a repertoire of tumbling feats. They perform acrobatic stunts in midheaven and throw a series of somersaults. Another kind will imitate lightning. As the stars ascend they will emit a series of dazzling flashes. From a new type of bomb a score of great spiders will shoot out and will seem to chase each other far aloft. Flashing balloons will be seen for the first time this year. When the new balloon floats out of sight there will come a flash, apparently from nowhere. It flashes 17 times at intervals before the show is over.

FORTY-FOUR YEARS AGO.

Monday was the 44th anniversary of the beginning of the great battle of Gettysburg that ended on July 3d in the complete rout of Lee's army. During the three days' fighting the Union forces lost 23,100 men, of whom nearly 7,000 were missing, while the Confederate loss was about 33,000, of whom 13,733 were prisoners. The battle of Gettysburg broke the back of the rebellion. When Lee marched around the Union forces and got into Pennsylvania he had about 100,000 men. When he got to Gettysburg he had between 70,000 and 80,000 men. Meade, in command of the Union forces, had about the same number of troops. General Reynolds, one of the best of the Union generals, was killed in the first day's fight, and the Union forces lost 10,000 men, but they retained their position, which was the key of the field of operations.

"To prevent appendicitis, walk on all fours a half hour every day," says a French newspaper. Let's all get into this game. Here's our offering: To avoid corns on your feet, walk first on one ear and then on the other.—Toledo Blade. To escape indigestion, eat fried bee's knees and stewed mosquito tongues and drink dish water. — Wellsboro Advocate. Here's ours: To prevent freckles on the face, take a nutmeg grater and rub off all the skin, taking as a tonic during the operation one box of 2-ounce carpet tacks after each rub, with a teaspoonful of fish hooks at bed time.

Out in Alabama a colored minister applied to the proper authorities for permission to take his brother's place on the scaffold. He said his brother was not prepared to go, but would probably appreciate the sacrifice made for him and lead a better life hereafter. He was much disappointed when he learned that the law did not recognize the substituion theory.

The art of swimming is so useful that every man, woman and child should make an effort to master it.

Cured of Lung Trouble.

"It is now eleven years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Ford, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 135 pounds, and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and continued this for about 6 months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 175 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at Turner's Drug Store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

THE DAY WE CELEBRATE.

The time honored Fourth of July celebration with its fireworks and enthusiasm is passing. No longer shall the small boy and the boy whose hair is gray turn to noise and clatter, in wild endeavor to convince the neighborhood he is doing his duty as an American citizen and properly celebrating the natal day of the nation. The booming of cannon at sunrise, the fire crackers all day, the parade, the speech and fireworks in the evening are giving away to more quiet and pleasureable enjoyments. Picnics and trolley rides, base ball and tennis are now preferred. The significance of the anniversary has not been forgotten in the change nor will it be allowed to pass from the memory so long as it is celebrated at all. There may be less gunpowder burned by the next generation, and the oration as an incident may disappear altogether, but the national holiday will remain a day full of meaning, for all that, when a free people enjoys its surrounding and enwrapping freedom as unconsciously as it breathes the all embracing air.

The anti-merger law will probably prevent the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company from acquiring the Boston and Maine railroad as proposed, and in that event it is said the New Haven will not give up the New York, Ontario and Western to the New York Central as proposed.

CLEANING NEW YORK.

Garbage Strike Ended, Filth Piles Fiercely Attacked.

New York, July 2.—With the assurance that their grievances would be considered by the mayor, the striking drivers of the street cleaning department reported for duty bright and early and attacked the odorous heaps of garbage in the streets with a vigor which gave good reason to hope that they would all be removed before the sun went down.

Not only were the strikers back in their old places, but the men who had taken the places of the strikers were also at work, and with this augmented force the work of clearing the disgracefully and dangerously dirty streets went on with a rush.

Carts carried enormous loads to the dump at First avenue and One Hundred and Seventh street, and there was a considerable rivalry among the men to see who could get his team dumped first and then get back after another load. There seemed to be the utmost good spirit among the men and Assistant Superintendent John Hanson said that he had never seen them work so hard.

Murdered and Robbed at Richmond Hill

New York, July 2.—Held up by highwaymen on a lonely road near Richmond Hill, a man supposed to be Christopher Braas, a farmer, was murdered and robbed while driving home from market. Braas lived in Jamaica. Evidences along the roadside showed that the farmer had made a desperate fight for his life and that the highwaymen finally shot him. One of the pockets of the dead man was turned inside out, and only $1, which the robbers had evidently overlooked, was found on the body.

Block Island Steamer Wrecked.

New London, Conn., July 2. — The steamer City of Lawrence, running between this city and Block island, ran ashore on Black Rock, a small island off Eastern Point and at the mouth of the New London harbor, stove a big hole in her bow and rapidly filled with water. The boat was crowded with passengers bound for Block Island, but there was no panic, and later the excursionists were taken to Eastern Point in the steamer's boats. The steamer grounded in a heavy fog.

Work at the Peace Conference.

The Hague, July 2.—The subcommittee of the peace conference on the treatment of belligerent ships in neutral harbors met, Count Tornielli (Italy) presiding. M. Nelidoff, president of the conference, was present. The committee discussed six articles of the German proposition making additions to the convention of 1899 for the adoption of the Red Cross convention to sea warfare. Count Tornielli remarked that after the war with Austria in 1866 Italy was the first to acknowledge the necessity to adopt for sea wars the same rules as in land wars.

Weavers For Jersey Got In France.

Lille, France, July 2.—The investigation made by the courts here into the clandestine emigration agencies which have been shipping weavers from the neighboring town of Roubaix to Paterson, N. J., and Lawrence, Mass., thus enabling factories of those cities to compete with the products of Roubaix and other French towns producing similar manufactures, has revealed an elaborate system of recruiting skilled emigrants, destined for the American weaveries, in violation of both the French and American laws.

CADWALADER'S ASHES LOST.

Philadelphian's Funeral Spoiled by Express Company's Error.

Philadelphia, July 2.—The ashes of Dr. Charles E. Cadwalader, a member of a distinguished Philadelphia family, who died last month in London, are lost. The funeral, which was to have been held July 1 in Christ church, has been postponed indefinitely.

Dr. Cadwalader's body was cremated, and the ashes were expressed from London on the steamship New York, which was docked in New York last Saturday. The package, which was only one foot square, was placed in one of many boxes containing every variety of merchandise, but no record was made of the particular box in which it was placed. There was no mention of it on the manifest. It is said that it will be found eventually.

Dr. Cadwalader shocked Philadelphia's exclusive society a few years ago by marrying his housekeeper, Bridget Mary Ryan. Soon after that episode the Cadwaladers took up their residence in London.

"I Want $3,000,000."

Rochester, N. Y., July 2.—"I want $3,000,000 in bonds," was the demand made of the cashier of the Union Trust company on State street by a stranger who entered the bank at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The man is now in the custody of the police and is believed to be insane. At the police station the prisoner claimed that he wanted to build a police station for consumptives; also that he wanted to build a big dam at Portage. He is fifty years of age, says his name is Henry Brinkman, and that he is an engineer.

Henley Regatta Begun.

Henley, England, July 2.—The annual regatta here opened with cold, dull weather and a scanty attendance. The meeting is hardly so international as usual. A Belgian crew has come over to defend the grand challenge cup won last year. Otherwise a German four, from Ludwigshafen, entered for the steward's cup, is the only foreign crew competing.

Mormon Church to Quit Business.

Salt Lake City, July 2.—Confirmation of the report given out some time ago that the Mormon church has decided to retire from business is the announcement made by the Deseret News that the church has sold the Grass creek coal mines near Coalville for $300,000 to Denver and Pennsylvania capitalists. The purchase includes six miles of railroad.

Bell Again Flies His Kite.

Halifax, N. S., July 2. — Professor Alexander Graham Bell has arrived at his summer residence at Baddeck, C. B., and has resumed his experiments with kites designed to support a man in the air. Professor Bell says that he expects to be able to make a practical demonstration in aerial navigation by August.

Smokes and Drinks at 102.

New York, July 2.—Josiah Zeitlein of 136 Lexington avenue, Brooklyn, celebrated his hundred and second birthday. He was born at Lodz, Russian Poland, on July 3, 1805. Mr. Zeitlein is still active and uses liquor and smokes in moderation. He has four sons, one daughter and fourteen grandchildren.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY SEAT.

NECESSARY TO RE-ADVERTISE.

James Street Bridge Contract Cannot Be Let on Bids Submitted.

Before the contract for the proposed James Street bridge can be let the county commissioners must again re-advertise for bids. This was the decision reached by the commissioners, who yesterday counselled with Attorneys William Maxwell, I. McPherson, John C. Ingham and Wm. P. Wilson.

The bids were rejected on a technicality, and owing to the fact that the law which made them appear illegal, being a recent act of the legislature, and never ruled upon in the courts, the commissioners desired the law be thoroughly understood. The attorneys gave the matter careful consideration, and decided the best way was to follow the law as laid down in the new act. The commissioners will meet again next week and the matter of re-advertising will be taken up.

It is believed by those in close touch that at the next meeting of the commissioners they will decide to re-advertise and go ahead with the construction of the bridge. There is practically no opposition to the construction of the bridge, something unusual in Bradford county bridge building.

CHOKED DIVORCED WIFE.

Charles Whitmiller Creates Scene on Main Street and Lands in Lockup.

Charles Whitmiller, a resident of the township, Saturday noon on Main street, choked his divorced wife, tried to take the baby from her and after creating a scene, was landed in the lockup by Chief Miller. Mrs. Whitmiller recently secured a divorce and the custody of her baby. On Saturday she was in town with her mother and while walking on Main street near the corner of Bridge, her former husband grabbed the baby and tried to pull it away from her.

The child screamed and clung to the mother, whereupon Whitmiller took her by the throat and just as he was about to choke her a little harder, Chief Miller grabbed him by the coat collar and jerked him from under his hat. Whitmiller was placed in the lockup charged with disorderly conduct. Had not the chief been near the scene when the trouble started, Whitmiller would have no doubt been handled very roughly by men who witnessed the assault on the woman and child.

Considering the Quality.

"Have you any postage stamps?" asked a lady of the clerk in one of the Towanda drug stores, Monday. "Yes, mam," he replied. "Give me 50 cents worth, please," she said, whereupon he told her if she wanted that many she had better go to the postoffice which was but a short distance away. "I got some there Saturday, and I have not heard from one of the letters I put them on yet, so I just won't buy any more stamps over there." The drug clerk sold her the stamps, and the woman left the store believing that she had a better quality of stamps than are sold at the postoffice.

Circus Coming.

Towanda is to have one circus at least this Summer. Mr. Phillips, advance agent of the VanAmburg shows was in town Saturday and made preliminary arrangements for the exhibiting of the circus here on Saturday, July 20. The VanAmburg circus while not the largest is the oldest show in the country. Twenty-two cars are required to transport the outfit, which includes a menagerie of good size.

Injury May Be Permanent.

While attempting to jump aboard a moving train Wednesday morning Bert Winnie of Meshoppen, slipped and was thrown in such a position that he struck with great violence on one of his knees. He went to Sayre Wednesday evening and entered the hospital. His knee is badly swollen, the synovial membrane is affected and and the acident may result in his knee being permanently stiffened.

At Lake Wesauking.

Miss Mary Welles is entertaining the following young ladies at the Welles cottage, at Lake Wesauking: Misses Nellie Frost, Mary Ingham, Edna Frisbie, Emma Gordon, Sarah Jennings, Helen Hale, Gertrude Holmes, Shelby Robinson, Gladys Dolphin, and Nellie Kinter of Buffalo. Mrs. G. E. Frost is chaperoning the party.

Back From the Klondike.

William Sullivan of Klondike, Alaska, is visiting his sister, Mrs. T. F. Kirwan in Towanda. Mr. Sullivan spent nine years in the gold fields of the far North, and is one of those favored by fortune in the great search for the gold nuggets.

A Snake Story.

John Brink of East Towanda on Monday brought to Towanda two rattle-snakes which he captured alive in Newton Hollow. One of the reptiles died a short time after being captured, while the other was very lively.

Health Board Meeting.

The Towanda Board of Health met in regular monthly session Tuesday evening, transacting only routine business. The borough is free from all contagious diseases and everything from a health point of view is in first class shape.

CHAMPIONS OF BRADFORD CO.

Towanda High School Base Ball Team Make Fine Record.

The 1907 base ball season of the Towanda High school team was one of the most successful that any base ball team representing the school has ever had. They won 13 out of the 16 games played, not loosing a single game to a school team, and therefore they have won the High school championship of Bradford county. The season has not only been a success from base ball stand point, but also from a financial point of view, for the Athletic association is entirely free from debt and has a balance left in the treasury.

Divorce Decreed.

A divorce has been decreed in the case of Anna L. Barnes vs. Burdette S. Barnes. The parties were married on Dec. 24, 1888, at Beach Flats, Bradford county, and two children were the issue of the union, both being now grown up and away from home. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes appear to have lived happily until June, 1906, when the defendant husband entertained a strange woman who gave her name as "Mrs. Smith of Elmira," at his home in Armenia township and at a Canton hotel. It was on this ground of unfaithfulness that the wife sought and secured a divorce, she having refused to live with him after "the other woman" came into their lives.

B. H. Lancaster Has New Position.

B. H. Lancaster for the past twelve years employed in the C. B. Porter pharmacy, has resigned his position, and on Thursday goes to West Pittston where he has an excellent situation in the Farrer & Peck pharmacy. Mr. Lancaster during his residence in Towanda, and the years he has spent in the Porter drug store, being in charge of the establishment for a long time has made many warm friends, and a large circle of acquaintances who will regret to see him leave Towanda. Mrs. Lancaster will accompany him to his new location.

Camping at Hornbrook.

The Boys' Recreation club, accompanied by Prof. J. H. Humphries, have gone into camp along the river at Hornbrook, where they will spend a week. Following are the names of the club members who are in camp: Edward Overton, Robert Coolbaugh, James Smith, Steven Felton, Brewster Ruggles, Clark Stiles, Joe Shores, William Rosenfield, John Dunfee, and Rolfe Humphries. Later in the week the party will be joined by Prof. Franklin Strong, Russell Pratt, and Hale Codding.

Towanda Boy Makes Good.

Thomas Killilea of Towanda, has made good as a cornet player in one of the leading musical organizations in the state of New York. He is one of the 14 players selected by Baker, of Binghamton band fame, to go to Saratoga Springs, the racing and society retreat in York state, to play the rest of the Summer season. Mr. Killilea who has been spending a few days with homefolks in Towanda, joined the band at Binghamton Sunday and will go to Saratoga today.

Semi-Annual Dividend Declared.

At a regular meeting of the board of directors of the First National bank held on Monday, the usual semi-annual dividend of five per cent. was declared, and $5,000 of the profits was added to the surplus.

JULY COUNCIL MEETING.

Brick Ordered For Main Street Pave —Routine Business Done.

The town council at the regular July meeting on Monday evening, instructed the borough secretary to order sufficient brick to pave Main street between Court and State streets. All the members were present except councilman Passage.

There was considerable discussion of paving matters, the electric light question and minor matters, but very little real business done. Thomas C. Whalen appeared by invitation and gave some figures on brick paving, and it is probable that he will be employed to supervise its construction.

Chairman Meredith of the electric light committee asked for further time in which to report, and it was intimated that within a very few days there might be something doing toward the much needed lighting of the borough streets, all night, every night and by something better than lantern light.

Claims for damages from injuries on sidewalks presented by Mrs. Carroll and Mrs. Sussman were discussed but no action taken.

The Village Improvement society asked to have the ordinance requiring weeds along the sidewalks to be cut enforced, and made complaint of several sewers discharging into the river above low water mark. Both these matters are to be remedied at once.

A fine of not less than $5, nor more than $10, is provided for non-compliance with the weed cutting ordinance.

John C. Barrett was appointed special police officer for St. Agnes school and vicinity.

Secretary Lane was instructed to order brick for the Main street pavement from Corning at 90c per square yard f. o. b. Towanda.

The Chief of Police was directed to see that the law prohibiting the sale of all fire works and fire crackers containing picric acid or picrates, all explosive canes using chlorate of potash or other high explosive ammunition, all explosive canes using blank cartridge pistols and all pellets or tablets composed of chlorate of potash or other high explosive compound be rigidly enforced.

Burgess Foyle's police report showed 27 arrests and the payment of $87.25 in fines, costs and licenses.

Popular Interne Leaves.

Dr. Russell Lynn, who for the past year has been interne at the Robert A. Packer hospital leaves soon for his home in Catasaqua where he will practice. Dr. Lynn graduated from the University of Pennsylvania last June with high honors and was a member of the honorary society, Phi Beta Kappa and of a college fraternity also. He entered on his period of service as interne last July and has been very popular with patients and townspeople. Dr. Lynn is an excellent physician and Dr. Ott regrets losing him as he was an able and very efficient aide to the head of the staff. His successor is Dr. Stuckhert, a graduate of Jefferson Medical college. Dr. Koehler, a Cornell man is now senior interne.—Sayre Times-Record.

Bradford Countians Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fell of Chatterton, Va., last week entertained a house party at their home on the Potomac. Several old Bradfordites were present, among them: Mrs. J. H. Howard, Homets Ferry; Mrs. E. J. Herrick and son Joseph, Philadelphia; Mrs. H. H. Jones, Hanley Jones, Kentucky; Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Nesbit Miss Marguerite Nesbit, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Whipple, Miss Ruth Whipple, all of Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Fell will be remembered as former Pennsylvanians. Mr. Fell is a brother of Cashier U. M. Fell, of the First National bank; Mrs. Fell is a daughter of the late Francis Homet of Homets Ferry.

High Priced Hay.

On Friday Rundell & company, of Towanda, paid E. J. Sando and L. D. Finan of New Albany, $617.90 for two cars of hay, on track at New Albany. The same hay last September could have been bought at $11 per ton, while Rundell & company, paid at the rate of $20 per ton.

Reunion Closes.

The reunion of the Soldiers' and Sailors' at Mountain Lake came to a close last night, after two days of interest and enjoyment. There was a large attendance both days, and a splendid time was had by both the "Boys in Blue" and the visitors.

BEWARE OF EXPLOSIVES.

Timely Word of Advice From the State Health Commissioner.

"Beware of tetanus from Fourth of July explosive wounds," is the warning that Health Commissioner Dixon again sends out to mothers throughout the state. "Treat every such wound seriously, no matter how slight it is, for prompt treatment may save your child from death by lock-jaw."

The number of tetanus cases in Pennsylvania has been greatly reduced within the last two years, largely owing to the prompt treatment of wounds from explosives. There were only 24 such cases following Fourth of July last year from all parts of the state and Dr. Dixon says this number will be still further reduced if the oft-repeated warning as to the seriousness of such wounds is heeded.

Dr. Dixon says he is obliged to take it for granted that children will not leave these dangerous toys alone altogether, and so all that can be done is to urge care. He adds:

"With reference to the bacillus of tetanus, the disease which so often follows wounds from toy explosives, it must be remembered that germs are of two general classes—those which require air and those which do not. The tetanus organism belongs to the latter class, and flourishes in the dark, shut off from air, as when buried in the earth. This explains why horses so often acquire the disease through wounds about the hoofs, and also why, when introduced into the flesh by the penetrating wound caused by a toy pistol or a metallic cartridge, it finds exactly the conditions necessary for its active growth and propagation.

"Such a wound should, therefore, never be allowed to go without immediate appropriate treatment, no matter how trifling it may appear. In fact, the minute punctured wound, which scarcely leaves a trace on the skin, is much more dangerous than a large laceration, which opens a considerable surface to the air. A physician should at once be summoned, and in the meantime the wound should be most carefully washed and then fomented with a hot antiseptic solution. A fatal result may often be prevented by prompt, vigorous action of this kind."

Subpoenas in divorce have been awarded in the case of D. Lafayette Bartlett vs. Kate Bartlett; also in the case of May Anna McCarrick vs. Martin McCarrick.

TAGS FOR BRADFORD COUNTY DOGS.

Being Sent Out From the Commissioners Officers This Week.

Four thousand brass tags have been received by the commissioners to be used in tagging Bradford county dogs in compliance with the new law which became operative July 1. There are 3,702 dogs in Bradford county according to the assessors reports, and every one must have a tag which certifies that the tax has been paid for the year 1907, or suffer death at the hands of some law enforcing constable, he being the official executioner in his respective township, boro or ward.

The tags are of odd shape, and bear in addition to the number which runs from one to 4,000 in this county, the inscription "Bradford County, Pa., Dog Tax for 1907 Paid."

The tags are being sent out to the different townships in alphabetical order commencing with Asylum township which gets the assortment start-with number one. The tags are sent to the tax collectors, where they can be procured just in time to save the life of the dog if he is found running around without a brass taglet.

The new law will result in every dog having either an owner or a quiet sleeping place beneath the sod.

WILL DRILL FOR OIL.

Wells to Be Put Down Near Tunkhannock Creek.

The Tunkhannock Democrat says: "A company has been formed for the putting down of two wells up Tunkhannock creek in the neighborhood of Dixon or a short distance above there for the purpose of finding out whether there is oil or any minerals in that district which it will pay to develop.

"The borings will be put down 3,000 feet if necessary to thoroughly test the surface indications in that vicinity. Oil has been noticed on the waters in that neighborhood for many years and an expert engaged to examine the ground reported that the indications were sufficient to encourage the putting down of wells. The company has leased most of the land on both sides of the creek from the Edward Billings farm to a considerable distance above Dixon. The work has been done quietly and has just become known. It is expected that about $6,000 will be required to put down two wells, and of this amount more than $4,000 has already been subscribed by parties in the neighborhood and at Factoryville."

Good Ship Roosevelt.

By RITA KELLEY.

Copyright, 1907, by Homer Sprague.

"Betsy, let's run out into the Hudson and see Peary's ship!"

Betsy Cobb jumped at her brother's words and gazed with sudden intentness out the window. She had come up to his office for a few moments' chat, and, as she felt the blood pounding into her cheeks and up to her hair, she wished poignantly that she had stayed away. To the Roosevelt, indeed!

"It's too cold," she objected, simulating a shiver. "We'll freeze getting out there."

"Bosh! Get on your gloves. It isn't every day that one has a chance to climb over a vessel that's been within hailing distance of the north pole. I'll just cut my appointments. What's the trouble?"

She had balked flatly at the gentle urgency of her brother's hand on her arm.

"I won't go!" she declared.

The doctor laughed good humoredly.

"What's up? Is some fickle admirer who forgot for the first time to send you a box of candy for your birthday due out there this afternoon? Come on. It isn't every day I can run off, and it's no pleasure to go alone."

Betsy's head swam with a perspective of a chain of horrors opening up by her acquiescence; but, on the other hand, her brother's curiosity was not to be aroused too much. He had a most uncomfortable habit of going to the bottom of things.

"Well," she said reluctantly, "I'll go." She laughed a bit hysterically. "But I'd rather be hanged."

Her brother remembered with some uneasiness that Betsy had not been herself of late. She was not so gay and fun loving as usual, and he often caught her mooning. That was what she was doing back at the office just now, and it decided him to run away with her for awhile.

"Betsy, don't you feel well?" he asked as they scrambled off a crosstown car at the ferry slip.

"Botheration, yes! What a silly question!" But, though her words were careless, she avoided his eyes and looked off down the Hudson. "You can't get across this day," she announced, with perceptible relief. "The ice is all caked up here on the New York side, so that a launch couldn't possibly get through."

"We'll hire a ferry, then," said her brother cheerfully. One thing was certain—the Roosevelt had something vital to do with her state of sulks. Good! He would probe further.

"Is there any way of getting out to the Peary ship?" he inquired of a policeman.

"Ice is pretty bad. No boats going out of here, but maybe if you walk up to Forty-fourth street you can get on a bigger boat. They been out once today. Guess you'd better go across to Jersey, though. No ice over there, and you can hire some one to take you out to midstream. The Peary boat is nearer the Jersey shore anyhow," he called after the determined looking physician, who had seized his sister's arm as the ferry gong sounded and was hustling her on board.

Betsy looked furtively at the vessel, lying low and gray, with her nose upstream, as the ferry passed. There was much deep interest amounting even to fascination in her glance, but she feigned extreme indifference. Several other people were evidently on the same quest, and as the ferry neared the Jersey shore a cry of disappointment went up. Not a launch or rowboat in sight! It looked very much as though those who were not good swimmers would have to content themselves with ferry glimpses of the famed ship, and cameras began snapping industriously.

Again Betsy's manner became more spontaneous.

"You will get out to the Roosevelt, will you?" she twitted her brother joyously. "Well, I don't envy you the swim in this temperature. Fortunately I'm a girl and so exempt."

"Ho, I don't know! Plenty of rowboats around here somewhere. You'll handle the oars all right. You are the most indefatigable croaker I ever saw."

Following the directions of a longshoreman, he guided Betsy's lagging footsteps for five minutes across the bridge, down interminable flights of stairs, across the road to the "wood pile" and brought up before a rotten log enmeshed in ice cakes that led out to a row of decrepit old canalboats lying out of commission along the shore. A man appeared around the corner of the little turret on top of one of the boats and asked if they could row.

"Well, I should say!" the doctor shouted.

And Betsy was forced to scramble up the perpendicular old ladder on to the boat, thence across and down a ladder into a flat bottomed old fishing boat at the other end. Her brother took off his overcoat and wrapped it about her carefully before he seized the oars and fell in with the stroke of the old river man.

The doctor was studying Betsy closely. It looked to him very much like a case of the heart, he speculated as they drew near the ship. When she weakly made excuse to remain in the rowboat while her brother clambered over the ship, he was certain that the masculine reason lurked on shipboard. So Betsy, perforce, boarded the Roosevelt.

The ship was in gala dress, with many sightseers aboard. As Betsy and her brother stood on the deck clutching their hats in the stiff breeze, a young, brown, weather beaten man stepped up and rather shyly held out his hand to Betsy.

Instantly the doctor looked at his sister. She was flushed painfully embarrassed and was stammering like an awkward schoolgirl. He was seized with remorse, and Dr. Cobb came to her rescue, chastising himself mentally.

"Haven't I seen you before?" he asked engagingly, extending his hand to the now embarrassed man, who, he surmised, belonged to the ship, from a certain fine manliness that is only bred of hardship and self reliance.

The man smiled a little whimsically as he gripped the hand of Betsy's brother.

"You are Bets—Miss Cobb's brother, are you not?" Then he, too, was covered with confusion. "I beg your pardon, she is not Miss"—

Betsy had turned sharply away, but her brother ran his hand through her arm and whirled her right about face.

"See here, young lady," he said seriously, "introduce me to this young man. What is it, my dear?"

To his chagrin and utmost self reproach she had buried her head on his shoulder, and he thought he heard something like a sob work its way out from the cloth of his coat. He could not raise her head. She burrowed it there. He could only look at the young northman and unveil a romance.

The man's face was drawn with a sort of starved tenderness, and his blue eyes gazed wistfully at the golden, shiny tendrils which escaped in the wind from the small black turban and swept the doctor's shoulder. Stern repression showed in the tense mouth. His whole expressive person seemed to bespeak the pain of having lost forever a much loved prize.

"Betsy, for heaven's sake, stop crying! Those people are looking at us." The doctor, having determinedly brought on the deluge, was taking man's inalienable right of blaming somebody else. Besides he wanted to know what this was all about.

Betsy disclosed a flushed but tearless face.

"Not crying." She denied the allegation spiritedly. "What is there to cry about? Fou! I just wanted a whiff of that nice, smelly iodoform on your coat. Mr. Jensen, my brother. And now"—she slipped a companionable hand through the arm of each—"show us the boat."

This was more like Betsy.

"What is your—name?" he asked in a voice that was too vibrant to be called steady.

The doctor wheeled in consternation.

"Betsy Cobb, haven't you ever met this man?" he demanded.

"Cobb!" The northman's big voice boomed up into the masts with sheer joy. "Aren't you married?" he cried, his boyish face breaking into a pathetic eagerness that was too beautiful and too intimate for any one but Betsy to see.

So the doctor was thrust out into a little world of his own for awhile, after Betsy ecstatically gurgled, "Gracious, no!" Betsy, dear little sister, didn't belong to him any more. And he had insisted upon getting rid of her!

"We've been engaged," Betsy's voice roused him, "ever since the Roosevelt sailed two years ago, but I promised not to tell till Paul came back. Do you know why I didn't want to come out here today? I thought Paul had forgotten. He never let me know he still cared."

"Foolish girl," said Paul, gripping both her hands in an ecstasy of recovery. "It's all the fault of old New York. I had forgotten in the ice floes that everybody down here moves every six months, and when I rushed up to Sixty-ninth street, all agog with delight to get back to the dearest little girl in the world, they told me Miss Cobb was married and didn't live there any more! Think of it! Some other Miss Cobb nearly bowling me off my feet like that! I knew two years was a long time for a fascinating little girl to remain true to a poor dub probably frozen into an ice cake around the north pole somewhere, so I didn't blame her much. I was going to be everlastingly grateful to her memory. For if it hadn't been for the thought of her I think I should have lost my grit once or twice. But as it was, I just kept on a-living."

"I knew it," said Betsy. "I knew it when I saw you."

How He Broke Into Literature.

Frederic Harrison was a close friend of George Eliot, and she often asked his advice in regard to points of law that came up in the course of her stories. She particularly needed legal advice in a vital part of "Felix Holt," for, conscientious worker as she was and as all really great artists are, she was not content to make a guess.

Mr. Harrison listened as gravely to the presentation of her problem as if it concerned real individuals. The next day he sent her a carefully and concisely worded opinion, which she used in her book just as he wrote it. In the story it is ascribed to "the attorney general" and is referred to as "final authority." It is the part printed in italics in chapter thirty-five.

Mr. Harrison was both surprised and pleased to see his own words used. He expected that the novelist would wish to express his legal opinion in her own language. "Thanks to George Eliot," he said, with a smile, "I have written something that will live forever in English literature."—Philadelphia Press.

PICKED UP BY AN ENGINE.

Carried Six Miles on Cowcatcher, Man Escapes Alive.

Meriden, Conn., July 2.—Stepping out of the way of a freight train at a crossing of the New Haven road, Antonio Misetta walked in front of a northbound express. The locomotive swept him along, and spectators of the accident looked in vain for his body.

Police notified the railroad agent in Berlin, six miles away, and he flagged the train and found Misetta clinging to a rod beneath the locomotive's headlight, much to the surprise of the engine driver.

Misetta was taken to St. Francis' hospital in Hartford suffering from scalp wounds, a broken ankle and nervous shock.

JOHN D. LOCATED.

Marshal Chandler Sure He Is at Forest Hill, Cleveland.

EXITS CLOSELY WATCHED.

Keeper of Front Gate Says Oil King Didn't Get In That Way—Suspicious of a Rear Entrance—Deputy Marshal Walking About the Grounds.

Cleveland, O., July 2.—United States Marshal Frank M. Chandler, accompanied by Deputy Frank Schwentner, again visited Forest Hill. The two officials were admitted to the grounds and at once proceeded to the Rockefeller residence. Chandler, after remaining around the house for an hour, started downtown, leaving his deputy on guard, with a subpoena for Mr. Rockefeller.

It was inferred that Marshal Chandler had reached the conclusion that Mr. Rockefeller was at Forest Hill, statements to the contrary notwithstanding.

"Basing my opinion upon private information and indications at Forest Hill, I would say that Mr. Rockefeller now is at his Cleveland house," Marshal Chandler said on reaching his office. "Just how or when he arrived I do not know," the marshal continued, "but it looks as though he reached Cleveland Monday morning and entered his estate by way of the rear entrance on Eddy road. The only answer I have obtained to any of my questions at his house was from the front gatekeeper, who repeatedly said, 'He has not passed through this gate.'

"When I attempted to interview Miss Howard, Mr. Rockefeller's secretary, she said, 'You need not ask me any questions, as I will not answer you.'

"In serving a subpoena we are at a disadvantage, as we cannot force an entrance to the house and make a search, as would be possible with a warrant for arrest.

"Deputy Schwenter was stationed upon the front porch of the Rockefeller home with instructions to remain there indefinitely and occasionally to walk about the grounds."

Hearst Begins Move For Recount.

New York, July 2.—Clarence J. Shearn, attorney for W. R. Hearst, applied to Justice Platzek in the supreme court for an order directing the board of elections of New York city and the clerk of the county of New York to produce all the ballots cast in the last mayoralty election at the county courthouse at such a time as should be fixed by the court. The ballots are then to be recounted and recanvassed in the presence of the different candidates for mayor or their representatives and of an attorney who shall be appointed by the court as a commissioner and ten other lawyers to act as commissioners.

Zionists at Tannersville.

Tannersville, N. Y., July 2.—The creation of a guarantee fund of $10,000 with which to pay for the services of agitators who shall tour this country in behalf of the Zionist movement was one of the questions considered at the session of the Zionist convention. The plan is to have at least two agitators, one to speak English and the other Yiddish, to visit every part of the United States. The Zionists are determined, now that the movement is coming to be understood, to reach out and gather in those elements of American Jewish community which have thus far stood aloof from it.

Leopard Loose In Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, July 2.—Residents of the fashionable east end residence district have been terrorized for the last two days by a ferocious leopard, which, it is believed, escaped from the menagerie of a circus which appeared here recently. Already several dogs have been attacked by the beast, and Monday night it leaped upon Henry Klopperburg of Broadhead street as he was passing through a thinly settled part of the district. After a desperate battle the young man beat off the animal.

Armenians Are Being Massacred.

Constantinople, July 2. — Terrible massacres of Armenians in the vilayets of Bitlis and Van have broken out in the last few days, and the situation there is reported to be very serious. Hundreds of Armenians are reported to have been killed or seriously injured in the outrages. The recipe which is being given publicity for getting heat out of coal ashes belongs to the same class as that which guarantees to produce a shock of hair on bald pates.

The present era of easy money and accompanying good times will be utilized by the prudent person in the payment of debts long due rather than in the contraction of new loans. Hard times are bad times for the maturing of a financial obligation.

An acre of ground will grow 480 cedar trees. If in twenty years' time they would make a growth so that each tree would produce three ten foot posts worth 35 cents each, the annual return from the land for the whole period would be $22.

If the farmer keeps his animals supplied with common salt, sulphur, charcoal and ashes, which either cost him nothing or can be secured in bulk at the drug store or grocery, he will have mighty little occasion for feeding expensive rations of condimental stock foods.

There is probably no weed that is a bigger bugbear for the average gardener than crab grass, which is deep oted, flourishes in dry weather and ots wherever a joint touches the ound. Like bad habits, crab grass most easily eradicated in its early ages.

There are all too many boys who are so constituted that they will whine if asked to empty a pail of slop or fill the wood box, yet would spend half a day and manifest all kinds of enthusiasm digging out a fox or woodchuck. This kind is certainly a perplexing, trying proposition.

While it would not be expedient for things to be so arranged that men would have to spend much time in doing housework, yet it is well for them to have to assist now and then so that they may come to a realizing sense of the advantage of a sink or drain for dish and wash water, a handy soft and hard water supply, and a convenient woodshed.

If the old strawberry bed has become so weedy that it will not pay to renovate it, plow it up and plant it to late turnips or rutabagas. This will serve to keep weeds in check and also be the means of producing a second crop on the land. Turnips may be sown as late as Aug. 1, the early fall rains being sufficient usually to germinate the seed and develop the crop.

In the case of wild bird life the number of eggs which are laid by different varieties seems to be quite largely determined by the capacity of the nest to accommodate the young when hatched. In way of illustration, the wren lays from eight to eleven eggs, the blue jay and robin usually four and the mourning dove two. In all three cases the nest is chock full by the time the young birds are ready to leave it.

A convenient support or trellis for the tomato plants may be made by taking barrel hoops, reducing them to a diameter of about eighteen inches and tacking three sharpened stakes to the inside of two of the hoops. The hoops should be placed about ten inches apart and the stakes left long enough to extend into the ground seven or eight inches and above ground a sufficient distance to give the vines proper support.

Following out the plan inaugurated by the directors of the Iowa experiment station three years ago, a corn special was run through Indiana the past year. One hundred and seventy-five places were visited and thousands of farmers heard the corn gospel preached. Those in charge of the excursion estimate that if all who heard the lectures profit by them there will be an increase in the yield of corn this year of 20,000,000 bushels.

A Frenchman living near Los Angeles, Cal., has a snail farm, the only one in the United States. A colony imported from France has multiplied so rapidly that he now has to have help to assist in caring for them. The only requisite in snail raising is to provide them a moist place inclosed so that they cannot get away. His surplus product he will ship to Paris, where nine tons of the gastropods are consumed annually as an article of food.

At the last session of the Texas legislature a law was passed establishing an office of commissioner of agriculture. The new official will be of equal rank with other state officers, and it will be his duty to have and exercise a general oversight over the agricultural interests of the state. He will not only be in a position to co-operate helpfully in the work that is being done by the federal department of agriculture, but with that of the state experiment station as well. The office is one that might well be created in all of the essentially agricultural states.

SIMPLER ENTERTAINING.

The work of the American housewife would be greatly simplified and entertaining would be much more general than it is—the informal, neighborly sort—if women would unite in a movement for a simpler form of entertaining—the having of one's neighbors or friends in at a meal without a sort of culinary splurge. It is a matter for congratulation that a reform along the line suggested has already been inaugurated, but it should be widely extended. It is a truth worth remembering that the serving of simple refreshments to the friends one entertains is not only an evidence of good sense on the part of the hostess, but a compliment as well to the friends entertained, in that it is a tacit recognition of the fact that they are quite as much concerned for pleasant social intercourse and renewing acquaintance as they are for the things they are going to put into their stomachs. We would not contend for a bread and water diet for company, but one simple enough so that the hostess would not have to tire herself all out preparing it and clearing away the dishes after it was served. The latter condition, instead of being the rule, should be the exception. Regarding women in groups, the same tendency prevails. We know of a ladies' club which met afternoons at stated intervals for which it was agreed only the simplest of refreshments should be served. Things went well for a time and only wafers and cocoa or lemonade were served, but this was too good to last. In an evil hour one of the members thought she would vary the refreshments and went beyond the prescribed limits. Once the ball was started to rolling there was no place to stop, and from wafers and cocoa things went from bad to worse, each lady striving to outdo her predecessor, until finally a four or five course luncheon was the only thing that would go. Intemperance in the matter of serving refreshments, a feature perfectly proper in its proper place, finally resulted in the dissolution of the organization. It is high time that the doctrine of the simple life was not only preached, but practiced, and in no realm is there greater need of reform than in that of entertaining.

A western judge has lately expressed the view that the introduction of the rural mail delivery system, by reducing the number of occasions for trips to town by the farmer's wife, which in the past offered opportunity for brief social intercourse and relief from the round of work, tends to multiply cases of insanity among them. If this is true, and it may be so, is it not equally true that the rural phones tend in a measure to offset the evil referred to?

Roses—in fact, all of the garden flowers—will be greatly benefited by sprinkling or, better, watering them once a week with a liquid manure solution. This should not be too strong. It may be made by soaking a tobacco pailful of fresh manure in a barrel of water and giving the plants a generous supply of the solution. The fertilizing elements contained in the manure are dissolved and are in such shape as to be immediately utilized when the water reaches the roots of the plants.

If the strawberry bed is in its third year this season and the owner does not wish to plow it up, it may be renovated in such way as to give a practically new bed by going through between the rows of berries with a single horse cultivator after the bed is done bearing and ruttling out all the plants but a narrow ridge in the center of the row. After this is done the roots and litter should be removed and the ground raked smooth. Enough new plants will set on this new soil to give a good stand for next year.

A lady friend, an interested student of bird life, tells us of having watched the ineffectual efforts of a male robin at nest building. The bird had evidently lost its mate and, being more skilled in the art of song than in nest building craft, did not seem to realize that mud was a necessary ingredient in making the standard nest. Morning after morning he put straw and strings and dry dirt in place on the cornice over the door only to have it all fall to the floor of the porch below. He finally gave up in despair. The incident simply proves that cockrobins, like men, make poor shift as housekeepers when they try it on their own hook.

When the cutting of asparagus for table use has ceased—and this should not be later than July 1 this year—all shoots appearing after this time should be allowed to grow to maturity. We have known of beds being stripped of their fine green plumes for decorative purposes, but this kind of treatment is disastrous for the bed. Root growth during the season is only possible as there is also top growth, and it will be clearly seen that if the tops are removed there can be no development of the root system. A strong root of asparagus has developed of its own accord near the writer's house, and this is used exclusively for bouquet purposes, though never entirely stripped.

Harsh and unrelenting as the Calvinistic doctrine of predestination is, the natural law operative in the physical, intellectual and moral realms which makes a man subject to his thoughts, acts and judgments of yesterday—as it were, a victim of his own past—is just as hard and severe. Not a day goes by but the daily papers are full of melancholy evidence of the truth of this statement. And one's religious or moral views in no way serve to relieve him of the results of the law's scope and operation. But with the dark there is also the bright side, for just in proportion as meanness or wrongdoing of today perpetuates itself in our tomorrow, so also with clean thinking and right doing. The good man is better for having lived today, as the bad man is worse.

KINDNESS TO THE AGED.

There is no trait in human nature that speaks more eloquently of the real character of its possessor than that of showing respect to the aged and in being gentle and considerate of parents who may be dependent upon one for care and support. And this holds particularly true in cases where there is special physical or mental weakness or helplessness. It is a great service the parent renders the child in long years of dependence and helplessness, when there is need of a large measure of patience, solicitude and self sacrifice, and the few years of tender and gentle ministry which the child is called upon to bestow on such a parent when old age and feebleness have come on are at best but a poor return of gratitude and appreciation. These fathers and mothers of ours will not be with us long. All too soon the thin white locks will lie in quiet on temples that are cold and still in death. Then every kindness shown, every exercise of patience, gentleness and forbearance will bring comfort to the sad heart, while the remembrance of harshness in word or act, impatience, thoughtlessness or neglect will be cause for keenest sorrow and regret. Show them kindness now, while there is a throbbing heart and consciousness to appreciate such service, rather than pile their coffins high with flowers as an offering to quiet the remorse of a troubled heart and to pay an obligation that can never be discharged.

WHERE JUSTICE LIES.

An ordinary sense of justice would seem to point out the unreasonableness of compelling the packer to pay for animals which are condemned as a result of government inspection and which thus condemned are practically a dead loss on his hands. It is equally clear that the refusal to accept animals which have been shipped to the packer in good faith likewise works a hardship on the shipper, which he ought to be freed from. The only remedy would seem to be the exercise of greater care on the part of the stock raiser—a weeding out of all diseased animals, the giving of that care which will tend to reduce the development of disease to the lowest possible point and the shipping of only that stock which is beyond question sound and healthy. The ideal condition in view of the federal inspection laws which have recently been passed would be some form of inspection at each local stockyard, but as this is impossible the precautions referred to are the ones that will have to be relied upon.

He is a selfish and hard hearted father who is not willing to sacrifice that his son may have a better education than his own has been, and he is an ungrateful son who does not cherish an ambition to make a record and achieve a name as good as the father's has been.

The cutting of small grain and particularly oats, a trifle green adds greatly to the value of the straw for feeding purposes. If cut in this condition, the juices of the stalk are retained in the straw or go to aid in the filling of the berry, whereas if the grain is allowed to get dead ripe before it is cut, these same juices evaporate or are reabsorbed by the root systems.

The modest everyday home, with its wealth of love and affection, even if there be not abundance of money or lavishness of furnishings, is, after all, the great bulwark and hope of the nation. It is these rather than the homes of the wealthy that furnish the brain and brawn and exemplify the highest moral ideals of the commonwealth. There be many such homes, and it is well that it is so.

Some idea of the enormous grain raising capacity of the country as a whole may be got from the statement that between 20,000,000 and 23,000,000 pounds of twine will be required to bind the small grain crop of the single state of Iowa. On the assumption that it would require nine pounds to extend a mile, 20,000,000 pounds would stretch 2,222,222 miles, a string long enough to encircle the earth eighty-eight times at the equator.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For Cape Eton Designed by May Manton—No. 5678.

Jaunty little wraps are having great vogue just now and give satisfactory, graceful and desirable effects. Here is one that combines the essential features of the cape and the Eton and that can be utilized both for the costume and for the separate wrap. It is made of chiffon broadcloth trimmed with silk and with applique; but, while broadcloth makes an admirable all round useful wrap, taffeta and pongee also are liked for the purpose, and veiling, lined with a thin silk, is of exceedingly comfortable weight for a warm weather garment. Again, the wrap serves well for the costume of voile, marquisette, taffeta and linen. Indeed, it may well be said that its possibilities are almost without limit, for it can be made available for a great number of occasions and a great many uses.

The cape Eton is made with fronts and back and the big circular sleeves that are joined to it beneath the plaits.

The quantity of material required for the medium size is 3 yards 21, 2 yards 27 or 1½ yards 44 inches wide, with 1 yard of silk for the bands and collar and 1¼ yards of applique.

Sizes for a 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inch bust.

5678 Cape Eton, 34 to 42 bust.

ANOTHER GOOD GRADE.

P., B. and E. Surveyors Locate Easy Grade Entrance to Binghamton.

The latest news concerning the Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern railroad comes from Philipsburg, by way of the Journal, which says:

"Charles P. McCausland, who, by the way is a Philipsburg boy of whom we are justly proud, and who has been busy the past couple of years doing the surveying for the new Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern railroad, heading this way, arrived in town last evening with his engineering corps, and started in this morning running lines. It is presumably the purpose of the projectors of this new road to connect at Philipsburg with the "Alleypoper," now controlled by the Philipsburg Railroad company, where the survey begins, running down the Moshannon to the river, and from there on to Binghamton, giving the company a magnificent grade. It is said that with the exception of one point, Oregon Hill, in Lycoming county, one engine can readily take 65 cars of coal all the way through to Binghamton."

ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN.

Three Ricketts Men Charged With Serious Offence.

Special Officer Garrahan of Wilkes-Bare, was at Ricketts on Wednesday and after going over the ground, arrested three young men—Michael Sobol, Michael Fidgock, and John Maddock—on the charge of attempting to wreck a Lehigh Valley passenger train.

On Tuesday it appears the young men were on their way from Lopez to Ricketts and had been put off a freight train by the conductor. It is charged that, angered by this, they placed stones on the tracks—one weighing about 50 pounds.

A wood chopper passing through the woods discovered the obstruction and notified a section foreman, who had to flag the train to avert its being wrecked. The three defendants were given a hearing before 'Squire Shook of Ricketts and in default of bail were committed to the Sullivan county jail at Laporte.

Packer Hospital Officers.

The annual meeting of the trustees of the Robert Packer hospital was held at that institution Wednesday afternoon. The following officers were elected: President, Henry Streeter, Towanda; vice-president, Bert Hayden, Sayre; secretary, F. J. Taylor, Sayre, and treasurer, M. H. Sawtelle, Sayre. There were two vacancies in the board caused by the death of Jas. N. Weaver, and B. W. Jennings. Gilbert Thurston and Dr. C. L. Stevens of Athens, were elected to fill the vacancies. The board authorized officers to build the additions which were recently considered, so far as the amounts appropriated by the state would allow. The institution is in a very excellent condition and is the greatest charitable institution in this section of the state.

Were "Honor Men."

Leo L. Rockwell and Will D. Hinman returned from Lewisburg on Friday last. They were accompanied by Alfred M. Whitby of Pittsburg, Frank Smigelsky of Mt. Carmel and Lawrence Manley of Canton. The boys were all members of the graduating class at Bucknell university. Messrs. Rockwell and Smigelsky being honor men, were commencement speakers, while "Parson" Whitby carried off the Greek prize. Howard Northrup, who has just finished his first year's work at the university is also at home for the Summer.—Monroeton Enterprise.

When the Animals Broke Loose.

The Wallace-Hagenbeck circus exhibited at Wellsboro on Tuesday and the feature of the parade was the escape of a zebra from his handlers. The striped equine attacked one of the horses which ran and in the melee the big herd of elephants became excited and broke into a trot and for a time it looked as if they would go crushing into the Wilcox Hotel front. The pachyderms went onto the sidewalk squeezing between the edge of the walk and the hotel, but negotiated the narrow passage without damage.

Overton Band Business Meeting.

Every member of the Overton Band of the Presbyterian church is requested to be present at a business meeting to be held in the Presbzyterian chapel this Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

CANTON BRIDGE AGENT MUST STAND TRIAL.

Judge Cameron Upset a Plan by Which Continuance Was Expected.

A Coudersport correspondent of the Williamsport Sun says: "Most important of the cases to be heard at the June term of criminal court is that of J. M. Whitley, agent of the Canton Bridge company, who is charged with conspiring with former Potter county commissioners to defraud the county in the sale of a bridge over Johnson brook. That the case is coming to trial is due to the stand of Judge David Cameron of Tioga county, who will preside.

"Two indictments were found in this case. The first one, the defendant alleges, was to be quashed under an agreement with L. T. Hoyt of Athens, Bradford county, special counsel for the Commonwealth. The second indictment was later made ineffective by the quashing of the grand jury which returned it.

"Jeremiah S. Black of York, last year's fusion candidate for lieutenant-governor, as attorney for the defendant, then asked that Hoyt be compelled to stand by his agreement that no prosecution be brought on the first indictment. Judge Cameron ruled against him, deciding that the district attorney is not competent to enter into such an agreement without the consent of the court, and that the trial must go ahead. A. B. Dunsmore of Wellsboro, L. T. Hoyt of Athens, and W. F. Dubois of Coudersport, will appear as counsel for the Commonwealth."

TWO NARROW ESCAPES.

Sullivan County Men Have Close Call From Horrible Deaths.

The Republican News Item, published at Laporte, Sullivan county, gives the following particulars of two accidents in that county which came near resulting in the death of two men:

Caught on Shafting.

William Robbins narrowly escaped death at the McCartney saw mill in Laporte, one day last week. While working near a revolving shaft his jacket caught fast to it and before the engine could be stopped he was seriously injured. He is still under medical treatment.

Thrown From Railroad Bridge.

While crossing the railroad bridge at Sonestown last Tuesday, Griff Phillips of that place, was overtaken by a train of freight cars before he could reach the end of the trestling. Seeing the train moving backward bearing down upon him he climbed to the edge of the bridge to let it pass. He was caught and dragged about 12 feet and thrown into the creek below. He was badly bruised and cut about the head but with immediate medical attention he was soon made comfortable and taken to his home where he is recovering slowly, owing to his advanced age.

Gored by a Bull.

On Friday, while J. V. Taylor, president of the First National bank of Wyalusing, was overseeing some work about the barn on his farm in the Northern part of that borough, he got in the way of a bull that had just begun to feel his importance, and although Mr. Taylor had a shovel in his hand which he used on the head of the animal, the bull kept crowding him backward and at last got him down on the ground and had begun to gore him when his cries for help called his son, Vinnette, who was at work in the barn, to his assistance, who with the aid of a pitchfork drove the angry animal off. Besides the bruises Mr. Taylor had one of his ribs broken. It was a very narrow escape from more serious injuries of a possible fatal nature.

Fine Summer Home.

One of the finest Summer homes in Bradford county has just been completed and furnished at Rome, by A. J. Whitney, superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad between Pittsburg and Washington, D. C. The house is of colonial style, elegant in every appointment and is furnished with antique furniture throughout. Mr. and Mrs. Whitney's Winter home is at Wilmington, Del., and they will only spend the Summers in their luxurious retreat near the pretty village of Rome.

Durham Bull Missing.

Orson Campbell of North Towanda, is minus a valuable two year old Durham bull, which has become lost strayed or stolen from Bald Eagle island where it was pastured with a number of cattle. Mr. Campbell was in the habit of taking the cattle off the island every night, and Friday when he went for them the bull could not be found. The loss has been reported to Constable Hollon who will make an investigation. It is believed the animal was stolen.

Social at Rummerfield.

The N. P. L. of Rummerfield will serve ice cream and cake on Tuesday evening, July 2, under the shade of the apple trees on Frank Boyle's lawn, the orchestra will be in attendance, assisted by Dr. J. C. Lee of Herrickville. Everybody is cordially invited. By order of the committee.

Divorces Decreed.

Divorces have been decreed in the following cases: Hannah Schock vs. Frederick Shock; Simeon J. Case vs. Mamie Case; Christian Neuber, Jr., vs. Nettie L. Neuber. A subpoena in divorce has been awarded in the case of Orlee R. Munson vs. Nettie M. Munson.

COMPTON ACQUITTED

Found Not Guilty of the Murder of William Lampman.

Silas Compton, charged with the murder of William Lampman, in Michigan, in 1892, was found not guilty at Charlotte, Mich Tuesday night. Compton was extradited from Pennsylvania after being arrested at Lix, Bradford county, and placed on trial because of a damaging statement, or "confession," recently made by John Butcher, who is serving a life sentence in the state prison at Jackson, Mich., for the murder of Lampman.

REUNION AT MOUNTAIN LAKE.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Had Splendid Time Last Week.

A correspondent sends the following acount of the Soldiers' and Sailors' annual reunion held at Mountain Lake last Thursday and Friday:

On the morning of the 27th the old soldiers and their families wended their way to the Soldiers' and Sailors' annual reunion at Mountain Lake, the weather cloudy and somewhat cool, therefore the numbers were not great, although a goodly number assembled. At 2 o'clock p. m., the exercises commenced. A very carefully arranged program had been prepared which was carried out as follows: Singing; prayer by Rev. H. B. Allen; a talk by Rev. Early of Troy; solo by Mary Morgan; Hon. Louis Piollet read a very interesting paper on some causes of the war. The paper had been carefully prepared and well read and was appreciated by all. Rev. Boroughs of Burlington, gave a talk on army life, he being there coud talk from experience. He sang one of the old time songs. Rev. H. B. Allen of North Towanda, gave a short talk, with little storries which made the most sober face smile and it was greatly enjoyed by his many friends. Captain Kilmer favored the assemblage with a solo which was very good. Camp fire in the evening; singing; an address by Hon. Robert Edminston.

The morning of the 28th dawned clear and bright and warm. In fact it was an ideal day. The blue sky overhead, the bright sunshine glinting through the green foliage, the quiet placid lake dotted here and there with pleasure boats, the boys' merry whistle, a few words of a song, the splash of the oars came floating in on the air; the flags floating from here and there among the trees, and the Stars and Stripes draped the speakers' stand. The forenoon was taken up with the business meeting, election of new officers, etc., then dinner; many partaking of the good dinner furnished at the hotel, and many bringing their lunches, spreading them on tables prepared for that purpose in the grove. At 2 p. m., the fife and drum called the people together for the afternoon exercises which were very good. Z. Morgan sang a solo; a recitation by Mary Ross was very good, and a very fine address by Rev. Huntley of East Troy. The address was well delivered and very interesting. The absent ones missed a great treat in not hearing the song, "We Have Drank From the Same Canteen, Boys," by Captain Kilmer and Horace Spencer. J. Andrew Wilt gave an excellent talk, and the reunion came to a close as all good things have an ending. Everyone who attended will say that they are the better for being there. Old Father Time leaves his mark, as the gray heads of the no longer young boys in blue would indicate.

Run Down by Bicycle.

Benjamin Keefe, an employee of Frost's factory, sustained a badly sprained arm, two cracked ribs and other injuries by being run down by a bicycle on Wednesday. Several young men were out in the road in front of Frost's factory Wednesday noon, playing catch with a ball, and Keefe stepped out in the street to receive a throw from one of the players. As he stooped to pick up the ball, a boy coming down Pine street on a bicycle, apparently lost control of the wheel and dashed into Keefe with terrific force, knocking him down and rendering him unconscious. When examined by Dr. C. K. Ladd it was found that he had sustained a bad sprain of the right arm, two cracked ribs and a bad cut in the right side.

Suing for Lost Dog.

Mrs. James H. Gernert, formerly Miss Helen Burrows of Stevensville, this county, is suing a Western railroad company for $1,000 damages for the loss of her collie dog "David Harum." The dog was on his way to Indian Territory, the present home of the Gernerts, when he suddenly disappeared. Though $100 was freely spent in an effort to recover the very intelligent canine, all efforts in that direction were without avail. The dog was a gift to the owner and is said by friends of the family to have been the most intelligent collie in the county.

Electric Deal in Sayre.

The Sayre Electric company which has purchased the business and lines of the Waverly Electric Light & Power company, was on Saturday granted a certificate by the State of New York to transact business in that state. The company are contemplating many improvements at the power plant in Sayre. The company have entered into contracts to furnish power to the street railway interest in the valley, and a better and larger electric system is assured.

OLD LANDMARK GONE.

Old House in Franklin Township Razed—It's History.

A correspondent to this paper gives the following account of the passing of an old landmark:

"Last week an old house situated in Franklin township, on the farm of E. L. Johnson, was razed to the ground and nothing remains but the old hearth and chimney to mark the spot of the dear old home in which were born and raised eight of the Lantz family, some of whom now rest in the cemetery not far distant while others live in this section.

"The house was erected in 1837 when there were but a few houses in Franklin township, by Eliza Blake, then the master carpenter in this section, for William Lantz, a pioneer, who worked hard to develop the then sparse community.

"As the old house was torn down the writer was particularly interested in its construction. It contained five rooms and was 1½ stories high and contained enough timber to almost build two houses of the same size in these days. It was not economy of timber and nails the early builders practiced but their object was to build strong and durable to which the men who took it down can fully testify. It was framed with heavy timbers, mortised and joined, nailed and spiked, where the modern carpenter would drive only one nail.

Some of the pine boards taken out measured nearly two feet wide. With but a few exceptions all the timbers were as good as when placed there 70 years ago."

Back From Michigan.

Charles Tompkins of Sheshequin township, returned Saturday from Charlotte, Mich., where he went as a witness in the Compton murder trial. Mr. Tompkins believes the prosecution has failed to make out a case sufficiently strong to warrant a conviction. He says that the feeling in Charlotte is very strong, the sentiment being in favor of Compton and the officers are severely criticized for saddling the county with a trial committed 15 years ago. John Butcher, the man who is serving a life sentence in the State's prison at Jackson for the murder of William Lampman, and whose confessions have implicated Compton, was put on the stand and his testimony was radically different in many important points from his confessions.

Large Back Pension.

One of the largest back pensions ever granted to a Bradford county soldier has been issued to Victor Kinnan of R. F. D. 65, Troy. He will receive an accrued pension amounting to nearly $5,000, granted as follows: $18 per month from Feb. 19, 1881; $24 per month from March 3, 1883; $30 per month from Aug. 4, 1886, and $40 per month from March 2, 1903. Pensions have also been granted to J. S. Whipple of LeRoy, $12 per month from Feb. 25, 1907; and one to DeWitt C. Gray of Athens, of $12 per month from Feb. 26, 1907. Mr. Gray was a musician in the band of the 57th regiment, New York Volunteer Infantry.

Decision Reserved.

Judge Terry of Tunkhannock, and the associate judges of Sullivan county, presiding over the hearing held in Court room, No. 2, in Towanda on Saturday, to quash appeals in the coal land cases from Sullivan county reserved their decision until a later date. Hon. Thos. J. Ingham and S. W. Meylert of Laporte, and R. A. Mercur of Towanda, were the attorneys representing Sullivan county commissioners, while S. P. McCormick of Williamsport, E. J. Mullen of Laporte, and A. Walsh of Dushore, represented the appellants.

Witch Hazel Plant.

M. E. Hughes, manager of the Wyoming Witch Hazel plant at Tunkhannock, accompanied by several helpers, will start for Connecticut in a few days to tear down and ship the steel structure purchased by the company recently. It will be placed near the present site in Tunkhannock, and it is expected to have it in readiness for operation as soon as the brush become dormant. It will have the capacity of more than double the one lost by fire.

Damage to Strawberry Crop.

There are three parties in Tunkhannock quite extensively engaged in growing strawberries—J. G. Leighton, William I. Avery and H. F. Brunges. During a hail storm last Thursday afternoon Mr. Leighton, who had the most promising crop of the three was a heavy loser. His plants were badly shredded and a large per cent. of the berries were cut from the stems, while Avery and Brunges escaped without any loss.

Will Test Fish Law.

Two young men of Reading, intend to test the constitutionality of the fish law of 1901 and an interesting case is promised. They were arrested for fishing on Sunday. Their claim is that they set the lines in the stream Saturday night and did not touch them on the Sabath. They had been previously fined, but have appealed the case.

Fingers Amputated.

While driving a well at Rummerfield Saturday morning, J. W. VanAuken of Laceyville, had the misfortune to have his left hand caught in the machinery, injuring it so badly that the index and second fingers had to be removed. He came to Towanda where Dr. C. S. Means amputated the injured members.

STEAM MOTOR CAR.

Erie Railroad Making Test of First of Its Kind in America.

The first Gantz steam motor car to be placed in operation in this country left Dayton, Ohio, June 24, bound for New York and running under its own power over the main line of the Erie. The result of this trip will be watched with interest by all railroad men as this run of over 700 miles will be considered a most severe trial. After the car arrives at Jersey City it will be placed in regular service on one of the suburban lines of the Erie. Several hundred cars of this type are in operation on European roads and it is the purpose of the Erie to test the utility of this car for hauling branch line passenger traffic. The car arived at Susquehanna Friday afternoon.

The car is in general appearance similar to the standard suburban passenger coaches of the Erie. The interior is handsomely finished and seats are provided for 50 passengers with a smoking compartment having seats for 12, and a baggage compartment of ample proportions to handle baggage as well as small express matter. At the front end of the car is a small compartment six feet long, which contains a 120-horse power Gantz steam generator 42 inches in diameter and five feet high. This compartment also contains the control levers by means of which the engineer can handle the car without the necessity of turning away from his position.

The car is propelled by two steam motors of 60 horse power each. These motors are mounted in the front truck, each motor driving a separate axle. These motors are of dust and dirt proof construction and are mounted in the truck in the same way that an electric motor is mounted in a trolley car truck. The motors are arranged so that either may be operated independently of the other, which is an important feature.

The car is equipped with Westinghouse air brakes, the air compressor being mounted in the trailer truck. The car is lighted by acetylene gas, heated by steam and weighs 45 tons in complete working order and with fuel and water sufficient for a continuous run of 50 miles. The fuel to be used is anthracite coal or coke and no smoke or dirt is emitted. The fuel is carried in a small bunker built on the outside of the car at the front end. The water tank, with a capacity of 600 gallons, is built into the under frame of the car.

The car is designed to make a speed of 40 miles an hour on a level track and 15 miles an hour on a 2 per cent. grade. It will also haul a trailer at a speed of 30 miles an hour on a level track and at 11 miles an hour on a 2 per cent. grade. The fuel consumption is not expected to exceed 15 pounds per mile.

Strike at Dushore.

Dushore borough has a strike on its hands. The men employed on the streets have struck for an increase in pay from $1.50 per day to $2 per day. The corporation does not show any signs of yielding and until work is more pressing it is probable that no work will be done on the streets. —Dushore Review.

JAPANESE AGAIN ANGRY.

Nichi Nichi Declares San Francisco's Action Intolerable.

Tokyo, July 2.—The Nichi Nichi in a leader regrets the necessity of being compelled to write again on the American question in defense of the rights of Japanese compatriots in San Francisco.

"Developments in the anti-Japanese sentiment," says the Nichi Nichi, "show signs of progressive and systematic movements aiming at the deprivation of the sources of livelihood of our compatriots. The last clause of article 2 of the treaty can properly be called into operation only after a law has been passed, but no legal step has been taken by the federal government disabling the Japanese from engaging in the employment agency business. The action of the San Francisco authorities is unbearable. Neither Washington nor the Tokyo government can remain inactive in view of the latest action of the San Francisco authorities against the Japanese. The time has come when the traditional friendship between both nations shall be demonstrated in some concrete form."

The Nichi Nichi is owned by Kato, Viscount Hayashi's predecessor in the foreign office. He is a tried diplomat of more than ordinary caliber and is one of the trusted lieutenants of Marquis Ito. Diplomatic questions that find expression in the Nichi Nichi form one of the most important meters of Japanese sentiment.

Loeb Denies Jingo Report.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 2.—A published report that sixteen battleships of the Atlantic fleet of the United States navy are to be transferred to the Pacific coast because of anti-American feeling in Japan was denied by William Loeb, President Roosevelt's secretary. Mr. Loeb said that the report is without foundation in fact, that such a movement has never been considered by the president and that its consideration is not contemplated.

Half of Pittsburg's Babies Die.

Pittsburg, July 2.—That 50 per cent of the babies born in Pittsburg die before reaching the age of one year was the startling information thrown at the heads of Pittsburg mothers by the bureau of health. What seemed still more to the point, the chief cause for this wholesale slaughter of the innocents is said by the bureau of health to be charged to the mothers themselves through ignorance of how a child should be fed and clothed.
